REVENUE LOSS FEARED . . .

Uniform Vehicle Tax Bill Rapped

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A revised bill which would provide for uniform statewide taxation of motor vehicles ran into opposition Wednesday from the Nebraska Association of County Officials and the Omaha Board of Education.

Spokesmen for both organizations told the Legislature's Revenue Committee that they are fearful the measure, LB1222, could reduce their present revenue from motor vehicles.

But Sen. Rick Budd of Nebraska City, chief sponsor of the bill, said the tax rates specified in the revised proposal would "generate sufficient funds to replace current revenue."

LB1222 was held for later action, along with other bills subjected to public hearing by the committee.

Age and Weight

Whereas motor vehicles are now taxed at the local level on valuations established by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment, Budd is proposing that tax rates be established by law on the basis of the vehicle's age and weight.

No longer would local governmental subdivisions apply their property tax levy to the valuations in order to determine the tax bill. Instead, the tax rates would be uniformly established by statute.

Under the current method, the same car is subjected to a different tax rate in each of the 93 counties.

Much Abuse

That has led to "much abuse over the years," Budd said, with some Nebraskans registering their cars in other counties to secure a lower tax rate.

"Under this bill, everyone who owns the same model car would pay exactly the same tax wherever he lives," Budd noted.

The proposed rates for automobiles:

—3,000 pounds or less: $40 for the first and second year of age; $25 for the third, fourth and fifth year; $15 for the sixth and seventh year; $10 if more than seven years old.

—between 3,000 and 4,000 pounds: $55, then $40, then $20, then $10.

—more than 4,000 pounds: $80, then $55, then $25, then $15.

Revenue from the tax would be returned to the county of registration and distributed among cities, school districts, townships and the county itself.

Unfair Taxes

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha testified in opposition to the bill, contending that it would "make the people pay unfair taxes," partially because the tax rate would no longer be based on vehicle valuation.

Supporting the bill, and its proposed tax rates for trucks, was the Nebraska Motor Carriers Association.

Other support came from the Nebraska Petroleum Council and the Nebraska Farmers Union.

Speaking for the Douglas County Board and other county officials, Jim Moylan of Omaha proposed that the automobile rates contained in the revised bill be restored to the substantially larger figures recommended in the bill as originally introduced.

Rate Bill Held

Also held for later action was LB67, Sen. Hendry Pedersen's proposal that the Legislature establish the state income tax rate. It is now set by the State Board of Equalization based on legislative appropriations.

"We're the people who raise the rate so let us take the responsibility," Pedersen said.

Asked by Sen. J. James Waldron to propose a specific rate for the coming biennium, Pedersen protested: "Have you ever seen a Dane on a cross?"

CCNY Unit Shut Again

... Dartmouth Sit-Ins Ejected

By The Associated Press

Negro students fought with white students Wednesday at the gates of the City College of New York and state troopers from New Hampshire and Vermont broke down doors at Dartmouth College to eject student demonstrators.

Their heads and faces streaming blood, seven white students were taken from the CCNY campus to nearby Knickerbocker Hospital after the battle at the gates.

'Incipient Race Riot'

CCNY President Buell G. Gallagher, who had ordered the school closed before the major clash, said he called in police because he faced "an incipient race riot."

A spokesman said later CCNY will reopen Thursday with "adequate police protection on campus."

Earlier Wednesday, state police, helmeted but without clubs, dragged and carried out some of 60 Dartmouth students sitting in to protest the Reserve Officers Training Corps. Others left the administration building in Hanover, N.H., peacefully.

Helmeted New York City policemen were stationed at the east gate to the CCNY South Campus, which Negro and Puerto Rican students blockaded from April 22 to last Monday.

CCNY reopened Tuesday, amid scattered disorder and tension, which built up to the major violence Wednesday.

Campus Was Barricaded

The Negroes and Puerto Ricans had barricaded the campus in demanding a separate school of black and Hispanic studies and a freshman enrollment in proportion to the Negro and Puerto Rican enrollment in the city high schools, which is about 40%.

The Board of Higher Education, which governs the 165,000-student City University, has authorized negotiators to meet with representatives of the dissident students.

Gallagher said this series of incidents forced his decision to close the South Campus:

—Negro youths invaded the engineering building, swinging clubs and injuring several students and a professor.

—A white girl was robbed at knife point by several Negro girls in the women's room at Townsend Harris Hall.

—Club-wielding Negro youths blocked passage onto the South Campus and ordered persons in the school library to get out.

—Several clashes occurred between Negroes and whites near a subway station.

Closed Before Outburst

Gallagher closed the school before the biggest outburst, the clash at the east gates.

Negroes scaled the iron gates carrying clubs and sticks. White students tore limbs from campus trees and fought back.

Police said some residents of Harlam joined in the battle.

One of the seven injured white youths had to be carried from the campus.

The white students outnumbered the Negroes and the Negroes retreated over the gates, then fled as police cars approached, sirens screaming.

Golf Clubs, Sticks Swung

In an earlier clash, Negro and Puerto Rican students invaded the engineering building — swinging golf clubs and sticks — and charged into a group of white students and faculty members.

CCNY said several students were injured and a faculty member was struck in the face.

Protesters Invade Colorado's Senate

Denver, Colo. (AP) — The Colorado State Senate was disrupted for an hour Wednesday by 15 young men and women who commandeered the rostrum and demanded improved social legislation.

"We don't think this is a legitimate body," said a spokesman before helmeted police carried the limp protesters one by one from the senate chamber.

They were booked on charges of disturbing the peace on complaints signed by Lt. Gov. Mark A. Hogan, presiding officer of the senate, and Sen. William L. Armstrong, the Republican majority leader.

'Never Got Chance'

A spokesman who didn't identify himself said his group had gone to the legislature "hundreds of times, but we never get a chance to speak."

This time, he said, "we are going to stay until we do. We are here to stay and that's it."

Before Denver police and Colorado state patrolmen arrived, the group renewed its demands — made earlier in fasts and marches — for new legislation on welfare, farm labor, school aid for the underprivileged, consumer protection and law and justice.

Some members of the group had made the same demands Tuesday on a march in the rain at the Capitol, carrying black mock coffins labeled with the unpassed legislation they sought.

Group Stages Fast

Earlier in the session, some members of the protest group fasted for several days near the Capitol, seeking laws to benefit Colorado's largely Mexican-American migrant farm labor population.

Robert Trujillo, one of the protesters Wednesday and a self-proclaimed Communist, talked briefly with Hogan during the disruption and declared it was "a disgrace for my people to have to work as hard as they do for the buck an hour or buck-twenty an hour that they make."

Twenty-two bills in these areas have been introduced, but as the legislature neared adjournment none had passed.

'Outrageous' Meat Prices Make Housewives Sizzle

New York (AP) — "It's outrageous," grumbled Lucille Barnes, a San Francisco housewife, as she scanned meat prices in a supermarket. "Every time I shop prices have increased a few cents."

The lament of Mrs. Barnes is being echoed by American housewives across the country.

The housewives are sizzling over the meat prices that have soared by up to 20% from a year ago and now stand at their highest levels since the Korean War.

"Every week the prices go higher. It has to stop somewhere otherwise the whole economy is going down," said Joan Krantz of Shaker Heights, Ohio.

The cause of the rising prices, according to cattle and retail dealers, is that consumer demand is continuing unabated, so that American families are eating their beef and paying dearly for it.

"The whole reason is supply and demand," said Ralph Warf, manager of a Memphis, Tenn., retail store chain.

Recently wed Mrs. Ronnie Sweat, Jacksonville, Fla., said: "I was so shocked when I first started shopping that hardly any price increase can shock me now.

"Beef price increases haven't hurt us that much yet to keep us from eating it," added Mrs. Sweat, who now pays $1.59 a pound for T-bone steak, up 30 cents from last year. Quality hamburger meat rose to 79 cents a pound, also up 30 cents.

K. Gilbert Novotny, president of the St. Louis National Stockyards Co., where the price of steers spurted $6 to $33.25 per 100 pounds, noted that consumer demand is especially strong for luxury cuts.

He suggested that housewives tired of paying higher prices should stop eating beef, thus driving the price down.

Apparently some housewives are taking Novotny's advice.

Although some housewives are switching to less expensive cuts of meat and chicken, the demand is still strong enough to support the higher prices.

As the Agriculture Department observed this week:

"The strength in livestock and meat prices in the face of larger supplies is due to rising consumer incomes, unusually low unemployment rates and increases in population."

Seward Woman Named Practical Nurse Of Year

Mrs. Iva Mae Roettjer of Seward was named Nebraska Licensed Practical Nurse of the Year Wednesday night.

Judges chose Mrs. Roettjer from among six nominees on the basis of her contributions to her organization and to her profession. She is chairman of the convention.

The two-day state convention of the Licensed Practical Nurse Association of Nebraska opened Wednesday morning with some 500 LPNs and students attending.

Mrs. Vera A. Herweg of Carroll, Iowa, first vice president of the National Federation of Licensed Practical Nurses, told the group that LPNs should be paid at the same rate as registered nurses if they are performing a registered nurse's duties.

She also voiced concern about the proper use of licensed practical nurses, declaring that LPNs should function to the full extent of their preparation rather than being assigned as nurse's aides.

Mrs. Herweg read an account of recent legislative activities, current concerns and available publications of the national federation.

A Lincoln urologist, Dr. Louis Gilbert, discussed the treatment of kidney disease and the licensed practical nurse's role in patient care at another session.

Thursday the group will elect new officers and hear a panel discussion by Mrs. Lauretta Jarnes, director of the Lincoln Public Schools practical nursing program, Mrs. Jo Ella Gillespie of Bayard and Mrs. Iona Horacek of McCook.

Man Sentenced To Drug Course

By DAVE ZIMMERMAN
Star Staff Writer

A 25-year-old New York man is the first test case under Nebraska's new legislative measure which enables judges to enter violators of marijuana laws in mandatory courses of instruction.

District Judge Bartlett Boyles sentenced the Flushing, N.Y. man to a seven-day jail term and also ordered that he "attend a course of instruction on the effects of misuse of drugs during such confinement."

He had been arrested last week at a Lincoln residence for possession of cannabis (marijuana).

By State

The new law (LB2) requires that the instruction be carried out by the State Department of Health, and deal with the medical, psychological and social effects of drug use.

Also included is a stipulation that a prisoner be required to receive any needed medical treatment for the effects of drugs while he is confined.

Dr. Lynn Thompson of the State Health Department said that the course the New York man is undergoing is a "stop-gap measure to tide us over" until further instructional plans can be formulated in conjunction with the Nebraska Medical Association, the State Mental Health Center and colleges of medicine.

Short Notice

The tentative course was set up by Ted Dappen, the State Health Department's director of health education, who said that even though the course was set up on short notice, "we hope that this will help him."

"It is important that the course be individualized for each offender," said Dappen

Dappen said the present course is centered around books and other materials which will be used by the offender to relate personal aspects of the individual's involvement with drugs.

The prisoner will write a theme explaining the possible dangers of such activity, and also attempt to discover the effects upon and the viewpoints of friends, family, and others (including future generations) in regard to his using drugs.

New York Times News Summary

Outspoken Dissident Soviet General Arrested

(C) New York Times News Service

Moscow — A retired Soviet general who is an outspoken dissident was reported to have been arrested Wednesday in Tashkent. Moscow police were said to be searching apartments of some of the members of an intellectual group with which the retired major general, Pyotr Grigoryenko, is associated. (More on Page 7.)

B52s Pound War Zone C

Tay Ninh — The allied command in South Vietnam has been relentlessly pounding War Zone C with B52 strikes in the belief that 15,000 to 20,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops have withdrawn into the jungle sanctuary to prepare another offensive. (More on Page 2.)

Film Men 'Advised'

Washington — The State Department said it gave American film distributors "advisory judgment" on movies that might be shown in the Soviet Union, but a spokesman denied that the advice — which apparently has never been rejected — was censorship. The department said films like "The Mob" and "Seven Days in May" confirm Soviet propaganda by showing the seamier side of American life.

Students In Pitched Battle

New York — At least seven students at City College of New York were injured, including three admitted to hospitals, in a bloody pitched battle between black students and white counter-protesters. (More on Page 1.)

Tax Plan Disclosed

Washington — A plan to ban personal tax deductions unless they exceed 10% of a taxpayer's income (charity contributions exempted) and use the added income tax revenues to significantly lower tax rates was disclosed by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. Other plans would change taxation on capital gains. (More on Page 41.)

Cash Called Answer

Washington — A Nixon administration belief in putting cash into the pockets of the poor as the long-range solution to hunger and poverty was outlined to a congressional committee by two Cabinet members. (More on Page 48.)

Bucher Gets Shore Duty

Washington — The skipper of the captured intelligence ship Pueblo, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, was assigned to work toward a master's degree in management at the Navy's Graduate School in Monterey, Calif. (More on Page 2.)

Whistles Greet QE2

New York — The biggest, and what shipping experts believe to be the last superliner, the Queen Elizabeth 2, steamed up New York harbor in what harbor experts believe to be both the biggest and the last welcome of a major passenger ship. Blasts from the whistle of the superliner greeted similar blasts from more than 150 vessels of all sizes on the trip up the Hudson River.

Bucher Gets Shore Duty

. . . Crewman From Omaha Praised

Washington (UPI) — Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, who expressed a desire to captain another ship during investigation of his surrender of the USS Pueblo, Wednesday was assigned to shore duty along with all but one the spy vessel's crew.

Bucher was assigned to the Navy's Graduate School at Monterey, Calif., for a year's study toward a masters degree in management.

The only sailor among the 82 surviving members of the 83-man crew to return to sea duty was Signalman 2.C.W.G. Leach of Houston, Tex., who will serve aboard the destroyer Haynsworth.

A Navy spokesman, however, said it is customary to rotate men between shore and sea duty.

The Navy court of inquiry which investigated the North Korean seizure of the Pueblo recommended that Bucher and the officer in charge of the vessel's research unit, Lt. Stephen R. Harris, be court-martialed. But Navy Secretary John H. Chafee overruled the court Tuesday, declaring the men had suffered enough already.

During the inquiry, Bucher said there was nothing he had rather do than return to sea duty as a skipper of another ship — a post traditionally cherished by naval officers.

At the conclusion of his one-year graduate course at Monterey, the Navy could reassign Bucher to sea duty and give him command of another vessel.

The Defense Department also announced that the court of inquiry had singled out 10 members of the Pueblo crew for special praise because of their conduct during 11 months of captivity.

One, 23-year-old Communications Technician Earl M. Kisler of St. Louis, "received a gruesome beating which rendered him unrecognizable to his shipmates for a week thereafter" when he refused to write a propaganda letter to the American press, the Pentagon said.

Another, Marine Sgt. Robert J. Hammond, 24, of Claremont, N.H., "held out through a total of 19 hours of severe torture until unable to resist any longer before he provided information about his job aboard the Pueblo."

Seaman Dale Rigby, 22, of Centerville, Utah, was cited for withstanding "horror and hardship" in caring for three wounded roommates and with probably saving the life of Fireman Apprentice Steven E Woelk, 21, of Altavista, Kan.

Others praised by the court were:

Lt. (j.g.) Frederick C. Schumacher, 26, St. Louis; Quartermaster 1.C. Charles Law Jr., Chehalis, Wash.; Chief Engineman Monroe Goldman, 28, Little Rock, Ark.; Communications Technician 1.C. Don E. Bailey, 39, Ridgeville, Ind.; Communications Technician 1.C. Charles R. Sterling, 30, Omaha, Neb.; Electrician's Mate 2.C Gerald W. Hagenson, 38, Stanley, Wis., and Marine Sgt. Robert J. Chicca, 25, Chillum Terrace, Md.

In other reassignments, the Pentagon said Lt. Edward R. Murphy was sent to the Fleet and Submarine School at San Diego; Lt. Harris went to the Naval Supply Corps at Athens, Ga.; and Chief Warrant Officer Gene H. Lacy went to the Naval Supply Center at Seattle.

Flooding Smashes Town In Colorado

Jamestown, Colo. (AP) — Flood waters rolled down the main street of this Colorado mountain town Wednesday, washing away eight houses, a restaurant and two other buildings, the Boulder County sheriff's office reported.

What was left — including the inhabitants — faced the threat of huge reservoirs of water, accumulated up-canyon behind dams of debris that sheriff's officers said could collapse any time.

"If they go, you can kiss Jimtown goodbye," said Deputy Randolph Sullivan after a check on the lone working telephone line with the approximate 100 persons remaining in the town.

Sullivan said the isolated residents were in no critical danger. He said an effort would be made to dynamite the debris a little at a time and allow the water to run off.

If the debris-jams should break, he said, "they would have to scramble right up the side of the mountain, but they would have time to get out before the crest hit."

The only reported casualty in the town was a man injured in a rescue attempt.

Save for candles and a few emergency lights, Jamestown, or "Jimtown" to its residents, was dark Wednesday night. An emergency shelter was established at the fire station for those who lost their homes.

The 100 who still were stranded at nightfall included a man who suffered a severe eye injury Tuesday night during rescue efforts, and two pregnant women — one expecting a baby Wednesday, the other Friday.

Bombs Kill Four In Saigon Post Office

Saigon (AP) — Two plastic bombs, wrapped for mailing, ripped through the crowded main room of Saigon's central post office on John F. Kennedy Square Thursday, killing four persons and wounding 19.

The incident followed three bombings in the capital Wednesday night — which wounded 15 persons, including two Americans — and a rocket attack on Hue early Thursday.

In Hue three Vietnamese civilians were killed and an American wounded.

Two Don't Go Off

Police said the post office bombers left two other wrapped packages containing explosives, but neither of those went off. The assailants dashed out of the yellow stucco post office building before the explosions and got away on motor scooters.

The bombs were set off in opposite ends of the cavernous post office lobby. Police reported the biggest bomb contained about 15 pounds of plastic explosives; the smaller one contained only about two pounds.

The bomb, placed beneath a stone writing desk, blew a 10-foot hole in the floor. A woman and a South Vietnamese army officer, evidently standing near the desk, were killed instantly.

Immediately after the explosion, police swarmed into the building hauling out wounded and clearing the crowds while the two additional bombs were disarmed.

The blast was heard through the center of Saigon when many people were going to work and many had stopped by the post office to pick up their morning mail.

The attacks against Saigon and Hue were the main war incidente reported Thursday by U.S. and South Vietnamese military headquarters. In addition to Hue, two American base camps were shelled overnight.

Poison Gas Disposal Plan Is Criticized

Washington (AP) — The Army announced Wednesday tentative plans to ship 27,000 tons of obsolete chemical warfare bombs and agents by train to the east coast to be hauled 250 miles out to sea and sunk.

The proposal already is stirring criticism in Congress with talk of the dangers of handling poison gas, but the Army insisted the shipment as well as the disposal procedures can be safely executed.

As outlined by Army officials, the obsolete or unservicable chemical warfare agents dating back to World War II would be loaded in a dozen or more trains and moved cross country between May and August.

Rep. McCarthy Critical

Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, D-N.Y., said in letters to Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe that "a number of safety factors appear to have been underestimated."

McCarthy said the Transportation Department waived its normal safety rules for rail shipment of toxic materials. In addition, he said, the possibility of derailment has been underestimated.

The chemicals, about half Air Force nerve gas bombs which are self-contained and the rest Army mustard gas and old tear gas in steel cylinders, are now stored at the Rocky Mountain, Colo., and Edgewood, Md., arsenals.

In addition, the Pentagon said later, "minor quantities" will be shipped from the arsenal at Anniston, Ala., and Bluegrass Arsenal at Lexington, Ky.

800 Cars Or More

Perhaps 800 or more train cars would carry the tonnage — the most the United States has ever tried to dispose of at one time.

Maj. Gen. Wendell Coates, the Army's information chief, said the hulks and their chemical payload would sink beyond the continental shelf, the relatively shallow area along the coast, to a depth of about 7,200 feet.

"Any significant pollution of the seawater is generally considered by us to be virtually impossible," Coates said.

Omaha Job Corps Phasing Out Starts

. . . Two Busloads Head South

Omaha (AP) — Two bus loads of enrollees from the Women's Job Corps Center left Wednesday for other centers, beginning the phasing out of the Omaha Center. Omaha is one of 59 job corps centers to be closed down in a revision of the federal job training effort.

The two buses leaving Wednesday morning were bound for McKinney, Tex., and Guthrie, Okla., where enrollees will continue their training. Two more busloads were scheduled out later for Albuquerque, N.M., and Tongue Point, Ore., bringing to 115 the total of girls transferred Wednesday.

Nebraska News

By the end of the week about 500 girls will be left in the Omaha center, a Job Corps spokesman said.

He added that a few girls had resigned rather than accept transfers but he did not know how many would resign eventually.

Unicam Apportionment Based On Census Not Voters—Syas

Omaha (AP) — Apportionment of legislative districts is based on the population of the districts, not their number of registered voters, Omaha State Sen. George Syas said.

Syas said members of the Douglas County Board "are getting sidetracked" when claiming representative inequities and conflicts with the U.S. Supreme Court rulings on the one-man, one-vote principle because of a disparity in the number of voters registered in the county's 12 legislative districts.

Douglas County Commissioner Daniel C. Lynch withdrew a resolution at a board meeting Tuesday that would have sought legislation requiring the county's 12 state senators to run for election at large.

Lynch proposed the resolution saying the number of registered voters in the county's districts ranged from 6,136 to 30,200. He said this represented a violation of the recent rulings of the high court.

He withdrew the resolution after two commissioners said they opposed the measure.

'Job For Courts'

The matter is a "job for the courts," said Commissioner James M. Murphy while Commissioner John Y. McCollister called the move "an unnecessary waving of a red flag before the legislature."

Syas said the state constitution says reapportionment must be based on the last federal census, which was in 1960.

"We will have to reapportion in 1971 after the 1970 census," Syas said, "and we'll (Omaha) probably gain two to three senators in 1971. But we can't do it now."

Miller Firing Not Listed On Meet Agenda

Norfolk (AP) — Only three matters, not including the firing of State Education Commissioner Floyd Miller, were listed in the notice of a special meeting of the State Board of Education, according to board President Allen Burkhardt of Norfolk.

Dr. Burkhardt declined to speculate on whether the board would vote Thursday on the firing of Miller. The eight-member body is slated to meet in the Statehouse with the next regular meeting set for May 15.

The purposes listed in the call were to review attorney general's opinions concerning employment of a special counsel for the board in relation to Dr. Miller's continued employment, to select a special counsel for employment by the board, and to employ the special counsel, Burkhardt said.

3 Inch Rains At Fairbury, Table Rock

Rains in southern Nebraska late Tuesday night and Wednesday deposited more than three inches of precipitation in Fairbury and Table Rock.

The latter reported a total of 3.10 inches and Fairbury had 3.05 inches.

Other heavy rainfalls included 2.20 inches in Harbine, two inches in Humboldt and Stella, 1.97 in Haigler, 1.96 in Barneston, 1.85 in Benkelman, 1.80 in Crete, 1.74 in Auburn, 1.56 in Cambridge and 1.55 in Stratton.

In Lincoln, 1.26 inches fell in six hours Wednesday, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Winds were gusting up to 39 miles an hour in western Nebraska Wednesday.

The forecast calls for clearing in the Panhandle Thursday with some chance of showers or thundershowers in eastern and southern Nebraska until afternoon and showers in southeastern Nebraska at night. High throughout the state will be 55 to 65.

Joint Meet Due On Fort Robinson School Problem

Chadron (AP) — A joint meeting of the Dawes County School Reorganization Committee and the Sioux County School Reorganization Board will be scheduled in an effort to attach about 75 acres of Fort Robinson State Park to a school district.

The Dawes County committee voted to hold the meeting in an effort to meet a state request that the land be attached to a district.

The request grew from disclosure that Park Supt. Vince Rotherham would be required to pay about $1,200 annually in tuition for the education of his three elementary school children in the Crawford city schools.

School officials have opposed absorbing the area in their districts because the state-owned land has no valuation and would produce no revenue.

Grubaugh New State President Of Auctioneers

Hastings—Marvin Grubaugh of Rising City was elected president of the Nebraska Auctioneers Association during the organization's annual meeting here.

Other officers elected were: John Ryan, Greeley, vice president; and Henry Rasmussen, St. Paul, secretary-treasurer.

The 140 members of NAA recognized Col. Rex Young of Plattsmouth for his 58 years service as an auctioneer.

Lincoln has been selected as the site for the 1970 NAA annual convention, according to NAA officers.

Paralytic Stroke Blamed In Death Of Mrs. Perkins

Scottsbluff (AP) — The death of Mrs. Norma I. Perkins, 68, of Scottsbluff will not be counted as a traffic fatality, a Nebraska State trooper said Wednesday.

Mrs. Perkins car went off a county road about five miles northwest of here and plunged into a borrow pit. Mrs. Perkins died in a hospital about two hours later and hospital records listed the cause of her death as a paralytic stroke.

Trooper Gary Wood of Scottsbluff, who investigated the accident said the car eased off the road slowly and went into the borrow pit without any damage to the vehicle.

Nudity Halts Fierce Dogs

Lima (AP) — Burgling in the nude is the latest underworld tactic around Trujillo in northern Peru, the newspaper La Prensa reported. It said thieves doff their clothes before breaking into houses and pick them up on the way out. The caper succeeds, the paper said, because watchdogs are so perplexed they don't attack.

U.S., Philippines Sign

Manila (UPI) — The Philippines and the United States have signed a $2.75 million agreement to finance completion of 15 major irrigation projects in the Philippines.

Summary of Conditions

A cold front will be over east central Illinois and into southeastern Kansas to the Oklahoma Panhandle by noon Thursday. Another front extends from central Indiana to low in southeastern Missouri to central Texas and will edge slowly eastward, overtaking the northern cold front by Thursday night.

Thursday and Friday temperatures will be cool with cooler temperatures over much of the area Thursday night. Skies will show considerable cloudiness into Thursday forenoon, then will be partly cloudy most of the time through Friday. Widely scattered rains should end over most of the region Thursday morning.

Ex-Minden Man Killed In Kansas Airplane Mishap

Minden — Michael R. Olsen, 31, of Plainville, Kan., son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Olsen of Minden, was killed Monday when the plane he was piloting crashed at Plainville. He was the lone occupant of the plane.

Born and reared at Minden, he was graduated from Sterling College in Kansas. He owned and operated the Plainville Livestock Commission Company.

Surviving are his wife, Phyllis; two children, Lindsey and Timothy; his parents; brothers, Charles of Atlanta, Ga., and Larry of Minden; and sisters, Mrs. Gene Armstrong of Omaha and Mary of Minden.

Mrs. Bonham, 83, Dies At Fairbury

Fairbury — Funeral services were held here Tuesday for Mrs. Luther Bonham, 83, longtime Fairbury resident. Her husband is chairman of the board of the First National Bank here.

A former school teacher, Mrs. Bonham came to Fairbury at the time of her marriage in 1908. She was a member of the DAR and a 50-year member of the Eastern Star.

Traveling Crew Will Assist Conduct District 4-H Camps

A traveling camp crew has been formed to assist county extension agents around Nebraska in conducting district camps for 4-H members, John Orr, associate state 4-H leader in charge of camping, announced this week.

Members of the crew are Brent Skinner of Wisner, Sharon Mueller of Davenport and Annette Wiechert of Lincoln.

The traveling camp crew's duties consist of teaching handicraft, music and recreation at 19 of the more than 35 district camp sessions and assisting with ceremonies and other activities.

More than 7,800 4-H members are expected to participate in some type of 4-H camp during the summer. The traveling camp crew will assist with about 3,500 campers, Orr said.

Emblem Credited For Helping Decrease Tractor Fatalities

Tractor accidents, (the main cause of accidental deaths on Nebraska farms for several years) and collisions of slow-moving tractors with automobiles on highways, killed 65 people in Nebraska in 1963.

But the number of people killed in farm tractor upsets has decreased from 44 to 1965 to 23 in 1968 and the number of people killed in car-tractor collisions declined from 11 to six. In addition, tractor overturns and car-tractor collisions declined.

One reason for the decrease in car-tractor collisions has been the use of the slow moving vehicle emblem, officials believe. The bill requiring the use of this emblem was introduced by Sen. William Wylie of Elgin in the 1965 Nebraska Legislature. The bill was signed into law on April 5, 1965. However, the law did not go into effect until January, 1967.

In 1967 there was a two per cent reduction in collisions while the death figure stayed the same. At the same time the overall traffic accident rate in Nebraska increased approximately 14%.

In 1968, the death rate from car-tractor collisions dropped 40% while the number of collisions dropped 15%. This is more meaningful when one considers that the farmer is traveling over the roadway more than ever before and in traffic that is increasing each year.

Safety people wonder how much more farm tractor-car collisions could be reduced if the emblem was required on slow moving equipment used on all roads in the state. The emblem is required only on the state highways of Nebraska. This accounts for about 10,000 miles of roadway. This means that the emblem is "not needed" on the remaining 100,000 miles of county roads, observers say.

Capt. Benedick Loses Both Legs

Gordon — Mr. and Mrs. Otto Benedick of Gordon have been informed that their son, Capt. Jack R. Benedick, 26, has lost both legs below the knees as the result of wounds received in action in Vietnam.

A graduate of Omaha University, Capt. Benedick was serving his second tour of duty in Vietnam.

Capt. Benedick holds a Silver Star, Bronze Star, the Air Medal, a commendation medal and the Purple Heart. He had gone to Vietnam for the second tour of duty last March 17.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Tuesday's election returns leave little to argue about. Issue can be taken with the small turnout, 24,587 or 38 per cent of the registered voters, but you can't force people to go to the polls. It is alarming to think, however, what could happen through the elective process as a result of such irresponsibility.

Do you realize that only about 1,400 votes separated the third and fourth-place candidates in the race for City Council? Such a close race, combined with voter apathy, is the kind of thing from which political skulduggery can spring. It would not be hard for special interest groups to gain control of things under such circumstances.

Fortunately, the candidates for office and those who won left no room for such activity this time but the door is wide open to abuse when only 38 per cent of the electorate bothers to go to the polls.

Election returns promise the most change in the area of city government. Here, three new faces will be found around the City Council table, all of them qualified and dedicated.

The important thing now is that they address themselves to the problems of the city. They should know already that winning election is the easy part — the tough job is serving in such a way as to make the community a better place in which to live.

It will take them a little time to get their feet on the ground but it is hoped they provide the kind of leadership that is needed. This means a careful analysis of the challenges faced in the public sector of things and a sincere effort to do something about them.

In their adoption of four bond proposals and the total failure of a write-in campaign for conservative candidates, the voters demonstrated that they want an active and progressive government. This doesn't mean an extravagant government, but rather, one that is responsive to the demands of the day.

The outcome on the four bond proposals certainly must be singled out as a mark of progress and confidence. City officials were careful to put on the ballot only those things they considered to be essential to the welfare of the citizenry.

Generally speaking, the proposals carried with some ease. With such success, plans should proceed for the mapping of another bond issue at some later date. Quite possibly, a bond program is the answer to our street problems and it surely is the only way in which our park system is ever going to reach the point of development it should.

The charter amendment in regard to the mayor's salary was another matter. It was defeated, leaving the requirement that no department head be paid more than the mayor.

Thus, if the city has a problem because of low salaries in the hiring of specialized personnel, the salary of the mayor will have to be raised to permit that hiring. Some operations such as the utilities may be exempt from this requirement but the city should be careful in this regard.

We believe the charter intends that the mayor be the highest paid employe of the city and this includes utilities and proprietary operations such as a hospital, libraries or a public transportation system.

Even more interesting will be the future impact of this decision by the voters. It should force the mayor's salary to a substantially higher figure than the present $17,325 and further entrench the so-called strong mayor form of government. The big question will be whether a strong mayor means a good mayor.

In other election contests, voters returned incumbents wherever they had a chance. This included two, Robert Magee and Robert Wekesser, on the Board of Education and Richard O. Joyce on the Airport Authority.

Also elected to the authority was broadcasting and business executive Richard Chapin. The results in these two areas promise continued progress in the important fields of education and aviation.

'The Job Corps Should Be Restricted To Well-Bred People Like Us'

Down With Savings

The taxpayers might well have concluded that they have had enough "savings" by now at the hands of state government. They have had so much of it that they might politely decline to accept more by way of a budget director, a man who would be "worth his weight in gold" in terms of budget savings and shorter sessions.

That at least is the proposition as presented by Sen. Herbert J. Duis. He suggests a $40,000-a-year director and the fellow, of course, would have to have a staff. Not too many years ago, we added the Department of Administrative Services and we still wonder where the savings are from that.

A lot of state departments complain these days that they have more paper work, not less, as a result of DAS and can see where they have been saved but very little.

We are talking about a proliferation of state government into offices throughout the state, at the suggestion of the governor, for further service and economy. Our guess is that it will simply cost us more money.

And what would the budget director and his staff do during the off season, while the Legislature was not in session? He would busy himself with various accounting procedures but we have plenty of people doing this now, including the state treasurer, state auditor and DAS.

Besides the highly questionable economics of the thing, there is the matter of current administrative and legislative responsibility that should not be weakened as this directorship proposal would do. If the Legislature cannot find any better ways than this of saving money, it should stop trying. And if it really wants to help itself, let it appropriate funds for a competent research staff.

Rules For The Court

The storm over U.S. Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas' temporary association with the family foundation of convicted stock manipulator Louis Wolfson points out the need for rules which would prevent members of the federal judiciary from accepting fees for outside employment during their terms on the bench. At the very least, rules such as those applied to members of Congress requiring that fees and contributions be made public should be extended to members of the Supreme Court.

Fortas, a man whose mental qualifications for his high office are exceptional, accepted a $20,000 payment for "research functions, studies and writings" from the Wolfson foundation and returned the check three months after the financial tycoon and his partner were indicted for selling unregistered stock. The justice explained he had no time to undertake the assignment.

While there has been no evidence brought forward to suggest impeachable conduct on the part of Fortas, his friends in Washington who backed him as former President Johnson's choice to be chief justice are conspicuously silent this time around. That Fortas has been a very active political-type fellow with an unfortunate choice of friends over the years is probably the reason for the lack of support.

Questions relating to this predicament arise. Should the structure of separation of powers deter Congress from extending rules of ethics to the judiciary? Should the Supreme Court police itself? Should members of the court be compensated for appearances of a public nature or for other work not inconsistent with their duties as provided for in the canons of judicial ethics?

We believe that speaking or lecturing honorariums should be allowed and fully disclosed and that all other outside work be terminated when a justice is appointed.

Bolivian Progress Under Barrientos

WASHINGTON — It didn't make the headlines of Charles de Gaulle's abdication in France, but a onetime turbulent country in Latin America last week survived tragedy and political change without turbulence.

Bolivia suffered the loss of its president, Rene Barrientos Ortuno, killed in a helicopter crash, and the vice president, Luis Adolfo Siles-Salinas quietly stepped into his shoes, without incident or revolution. Not a shot was fired in a country where a good many presidents have been shot or hanged in the past.

This highlights the fact that Bolivia, a desperately poor country high up in the Andes, has made great progress. A few years ago peasant farmers were sold as chattels with the land. But in the last 15 years Bolivia has undergone a social revolution. The peasants now own their land. They have taken on a new pride, a new determination to improve.

It witnessed this two years ago, when Barrientos flew with Chief Justice Earl Warren to the ancient capital of Sucre, landed on a cow pasture and drove into the heart of the city. Thousands of Indians swarmed through the narrow streets.

Dressed in rough homespun woolens and wearing thick, broad-brimmed hats of Llama hair, they thronged the public square to shout greetings to their president and the American Chief Justice. It was a demonstration of loyalty to a leader who was doing his best to improve the status of the Indian masses.

Two years before, President Barrientos came to the United States at my invitation, to be the chief speaker at the annual convention of the International Platform Association. He spoke eloquently of the problems of his country and the South American continent, mingled with North American, was given an official luncheon by President Johnson, and himself entertained Vice President Humphrey and N.Y. Mayor John Lindsay.

He was a believer in the principle that South Americans must help themselves — borrow money perhaps, but not go on welfare to Uncle Sam. And he carried this out. He did not confiscate a single American company. He was a good salesman, and last summer flew up to San Antonio to participate in the Hemisfair and show what Bolivia had to offer the rest of the continent.

Student strikes may be new to American universities, but they were not to him. When students at the University of La Paz started rioting and dared him to enter their campus, he accepted the challenge — without a bodyguard. The troubles subsided.

Pueblo Case Prime Example Of Inequality Between Issuing Orders, Carrying Them Out

NEW YORK — Secretary of the Navy Chafee says the Pueblo case is "closed," but an interesting philosophic question remains. Who is to judge the judges? The men who make decisions about war and the men who carry them out live by different rules. The first volunteer for political office and most of the second are drafted to fight, and both, being human, make mistakes, but the fighters must answer for their missions and the men who ordered missions do not have to answer and even sit in judgment on their men.

It is easy to understand why the senior officers of the Navy recommended a court-martial for Commander Lloyd Bucher. He broke the Navy's tradition of going down with the ship, and tradition is important. It is also easy to understand why Secretary Chafee rejected the court-martial, for the Pueblo was not only a naval and political disaster, but a rebuke to the United States as well as to Commander Bucher. And Secretary Chafee clearly wanted to bury it as soon as possible.

Any reasonable man would have done the same thing, but after the legal and political problems of the Pueblo are over, everybody is still vaguely uneasy. It is out of the headlines but not out of sensitive minds. For Commander Bucher, while he may have been a weak and blundering captain, has become a symbol of the helpless individual directed and even humiliated by the judgments and power of the state — and this is almost the central conflict in our society today.

Consider, for example, the 303 Committee in Washington, which very few people and probably not even Commander Bucher have ever heard of, even now.

This is the committee charged with approving intelligence missions all over the world such as the Pueblo mission off the North Korean coast. It is composed of the deputy secretary of defense, the under secretary of state, the director of the Central Intelligence Agency, and the presidential assistant for national security affairs in the White House, among others.

These are human beings too, subject to human error. They have primary responsibility for recommending these spy missions. They are above even the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the commanders in the Pacific, let alone Commander Bucher or his superior officers in Japan.

They approved the Pueblo mission. They made the judgment that even a spy ship outside territorial waters would not be attacked, or at least that the advantage of the spy mission was greater than the risk. In the perspective of history, it was not an unreasonable recommendation to the President, but it proved to be wrong — and was even repeated by the 303 Committee and by the President after the Pueblo incident when they approved sending an unguarded spy-plane into the same area, only to have it shot down.

The blunders and tragedies in the Pueblo case are great enough to cover the field. A great deal was spent to gain very little, and it would be easy to bring a strong case against the President, the Joint Chiefs, the 303 Committee, the theater commander, and Commander Bucher and his crew.

All made mistakes of judgment, but only Commander Bucher was held accountable, and put through a medieval trial that exposed his agony and broke his spirit.

Maybe he was unfit for command. Maybe this orphan boy, pushed beyond his capacities, was too weak to be strong enough to risk the resentment of his crew. But other men chose him for command and pushed him into a situation beyond his capacities — and they are invisible, unidentified, and uncharged.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Life is unfair," President Kennedy said, and this is the only point of the story. The misjudgments in the Pueblo incident were general. No one man was to blame, but everybody was to blame, and only Commander Bucher was blamed in the end.

Two Opinions

Lincoln, Neb.

Perhaps Star readers would be interested in my experience with the new auto safety inspection law in practice.

I took my car to the dealer who sells that make of car for its safety inspection. I was told that it did not pass because it needed new tie rods, which would cost an estimated $40. Before spending that much for repairs on what I considered quite a safe car, I took it to another inspection station for a "second opinion."

The second inspection station, perhaps because it had no new tie rods to sell me, found not a thing wrong with my steering mechanism. It did, however, find a headlight to readjust for a one-dollar fee, an adjustment found unnecessary by the first inspection station.

Any questions?

Farm Prices

Lincoln, Neb.

Fifteen plumbing manufacturers were indicted Oct. 6, 1966. Involved was about 9% of the enameled cast iron and 80% of the vitreous china plumbing fixtures sold in the U.S. since 1962. Testimony showed the conspiracy began in a Chicago hotel and prices were "raised, fixed, stabilized and maintained at noncompetitive levels."

General Electric and Westinghouse were involved in similar actions four years ago.

Do we as consumers really want to see our family farms disappear, to be replaced by large corporations? Few consumers realize how little farm prices affect food costs. We spend about 17½% of earned income after taxes for food. Of this, about 2½% is for foreign products, such as coffee, bananas, spices, imported meats, dairy products, sugar, sea foods, etc. The farmer receives about one-third of the remainder. If this were raised to a fair level, it should have little effect on costs. Our costs include restaurant meals, so this increase should have little effect for the poor, the unemployed on welfare, etc., who should be the responsibility of all citizens.

Reports have even showed that some retailers charged more, often for inferior products, in city ghettos where consumers lacked the means to shop elsewhere.

I have personally observed a nine-cent variation, from 44 to 53 cents, on an 18-ounce package of cereal, between shopping facilities here in Lincoln. This package represents about two cents worth of wheat at the farm level.

At Secretary Hardin's recent visit to the University of Nebraska, some organizations claimed to speak for agriculture, both for large numbers and many years. If present farm prices and rural conditions are an indication of this leadership, it would seem even the most gullible of producers should recognize the need for change and action.

The Capper-Volsted Act gives the producers the right to organize and bargain for a fair price. It protects the consumer because it allows only a fair price.

I believe the farmer and the consumer should be concerned about the collective bargaining program of the National Farmers Organization and should give it their support.

Wonderful Teens

Lincoln, Neb.

Saturday night we had the unique pleasure of manning the punch bowls at the Lincoln High prom. Not only were all of these young people well behaved, but their natural good manners, good looks and good fun made it for us as well as for them "some enchanted evening."

While they are indeed the hope of the future, they are also very real and wonderful in the present.

To our teen-age sons: Yes, the signature below is correct.

Thank You

Lincoln, Neb.

Since I am writing this before election day, I hope it will convey my sincere gratitude, win or lose, to the media and the many persons who participated in my campaign for City Council.

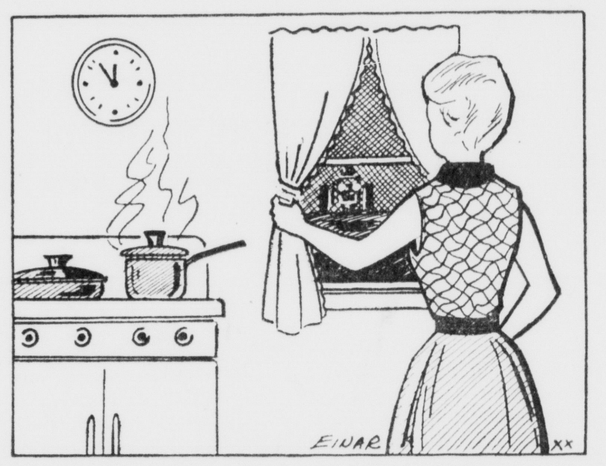
I want to thank the media for their objective reporting of the campaign. Also, I want to thank all those wonderful persons who helped me.

I have never before campaigned for public office and I know only now the tremendous sacrifices of time and talents that a candidate receives from his friends and supporters. I can't adequately express my thanks for such efforts in my behalf.

DICK H. HARTSOCK

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country



Now that we are on the new time schedule, The Farmer does not get in from the field in time to hear the ten o'clock news at night. So with one ear attuned to the TV and the other to the simmering supper on the stove, I attempt to do justice to both of them although tonight I don't know for certain when he will get in from the field.

He does like to get the latest weather report at ten o'clock. The noonday report spoke of rain tomorrow. With a field disked, he began fertilizing toward evening and I suspect he will remain until he has completed the task.

If he doesn't finish tonight and it rains, he will have to re-disk the field again before applying the fertilizer. Who knows — we may be having our snack time at midnight.

Looking down the lane, I see pick-up trucks going by with lights, towing fertilizer tanks behind them . . . some with three tanks trailing. I know other farm wives are waiting supper. Somehow saving daylight by changing the hands of the clock is rather comic to rural dwellers. When we run out of daylight we work in the moonlight.

☆ ☆ ☆

Yes, I would agree with a neighboring friend who says we came by the classification of being rural-oriented quite naturally since the dictionary says "orient" means to become adjusted to a situation. How naturally and easily we have slipped into the long hours of labor this spring. Perhaps the long, difficult winter of moving snow and tending livestock made the adjustment less noticeable. We were all so happy to see spring arrive that we gladly accepted the long hours and backlog of work.

How aware we are of the changing panorama of our land now that the plow has peeled away the last grimy remnants of winter. Though our days are action-packed, we savor the spring season from the top of the greening rolling hills down to the pastoral serenity of cattle grazing by a quiet pond.

It's all here from the brawny beauty of an old pine tree that stands on a knoll where the north winter winds have tested its strength to the placid tree-lined country lane. There is a song of peace in a farm stream rippling in and out and roundabout the valley. It would be difficult for those with an untuned ear to hear the spoken word of the land . . . those who have heard only the rumble of city traffic and screaming brakes.

Yet we who know our sustenance must come from the mellow earth and seed, from sun and rain and hope, have a special feeling for our rich black acres that we till. We don't get our knowledge from the books for no author can put into words the special reverence each man feels; the miracle of spring, fruition of summer, splendor of autumn and the repose of winter. Each to his own reflections, each to his own repose.

Yes, we are rural-oriented as once again the scene is acted, old, yet ever new.

We pause to listen for comfort and wisdom, for joy and peace. As long as the earth remains, the seasons will never cease.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Life At Presbyterian Home Is Active, Gay

By ROBERT PETERSON

Many find old age the happiest period of their lives. Here's an enthusiastic letter from a widow spending a month in Florida:

"I am down here resting up from the active, gay life I lead at the Presbyterian Home in Philadelphia," writes Mrs. Frederick Edwards. "It's the most marvelous place in the world and if you can't be happy there you couldn't be happy anywhere.

"There are 215 guests — all women — and we have a marvelous time. We come and go as we please and have the security of knowing we're getting the best of care the rest of our lives. To enter this home you must pay a flat sum, and then sign over to them one-half your social security, dividends, and any other income.

"Among my daily chores is assisting in sorting and delivering the mail. Then some of us do volunteer work at Presbyterian Hospital two or three days a week. There's always a prayer meeting on Tuesdays. On Wednesdays I rehearse with our chorus — a wonderful group of 22 women with good voices and an excellent director. We take music seriously and are often invited to sing before church and civic groups throughout the city. We go in buses which take us door to door.

"On Thursdays I fold gauze pads for the hospital. And then there's Friday — it's special for this is my day to do tube painting on scarfs, sweaters and place mats. I love creative work and the items find a ready market at our annual dinner and bazaar.

"We're often invited to special church activities in the area surrounding the home — covered dish dinners, anniversary gatherings, and lectures. When we want to go shopping a car takes us downtown so we can tour the stores and stay for dinner and a show if we like. The home also charters buses to take us on special day trips several times a year. We had a perfectly marvelous trip to the mountains last fall on a clear sunny day to see the autumn leaves.

"There's an infirmary if we get sick and our own M.D. There's also an eye doctor, dentist, and a beauty parlor. Lots of nice people come to the home just to visit, and a minister comes on Sunday afternoon and gives us the same sermon he preached in his own church that morning.

"So you see I really have to get away once in awhile just to rest. What a welcome I'll receive when I arrive back at the home next week. It just warms my heart to think of it."

NU Hopes Nixon Will Attend Joint Commencement

The University of Nebraska is proceeding to plan the joint centennial commencement of all four campuses in Memorial Stadium on the basis that President Nixon will be able to attend the ceremonies.

University officials said Wednesday they are hopeful that Nixon will be able to accept the invitation to participate in the ceremonies for all four Lincoln and Omaha campuses on May 31. No official reply to the official invitation from acting Chancellor Merk Hobson has yet been received from President Nixon.

Hearing For Pope Postponed

. . . Until May 15

Chappell (AP) — A hearing in Deuel County District Court on defense motions challenging a scheduled murder trial for Duane Earl Pope has been postponed until Thursday afternoon, May 15.

The hearing had been set for Wednesday afternoon.

The 25-year-old Kansan faces 11 state charges, including three of first degree murder, in a bank robbery at Big Springs June 4, 1965, in which three persons were killed and another wounded.

Motions seek dismissal on grounds of double jeopardy and ask a change of venue.

Pope was convicted and sentenced to death under a federal bank robbery statute. However, the U.S. Supreme Court decision vacated the death sentence and Pope was resentenced to life.

Bond Issuance 'Several Months' Away

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

City Finance Director James Mallon said Wednesday the city would likely issue a bond within the next several months for the capital improvement projects approved by Lincoln voters Tuesday.

The voters at the general election approved all four bond issues — totaling $2.35 million — for new libraries, new fire stations, street improvement facilities and storm sewers.

Mallon indicated that a "lot of paper work" would have to be done during the next several months to get a bond issue ready that would cover all four projects.

Next Budget

"The projects will be included in the budget for next year with funds allocated," the finance director said.

Charles Dalrymple, library director, said passage of the branch library bond issue will "enable us to proceed much more methodically in accomplishing a library service for the entire community."

The two new libraries will be in the southeast and northeast sections of Lincoln.

Dalrymple said the City Library Board will now begin selecting an architect.

He said a site is still needed for the Northeast Branch Library and that negotiations are in process for the Southeast Branch Library.

Robert Obering, public works director, indicated Wednesday that he will wait for the money to actually be available before storm sewer construction work begins.

Voters approved spending $1 million through a bond issue for four storm sewer projects in high priority areas.

Obering said negotiations should start soon for land on which to build the street improvement facilities that are now located in the path of a University of Nebraska land acquisition program.

He said sites for the facilities are still being considered. Present facilities are located in the middle of the university campus between 14th and 16th Sts. near W.

Fire Stations

One new fire station will be erected at Touzalin and Benton to replace the old Station No. 4 at 6032 Havelock and Station No. 5 at 48th and Baldwin, and the other will be at 48th and Claire to replace Station No. 6 at 4719 Prescott.

No construction dates have been set for the two buildings.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said regarding the bond issue victories that he is glad "the people of Lincoln have always been forward-looking and progressive and have not wanted their city to get into the deteriorated condition that so many other cities have."

"I feel the people of Lincoln, united in a common desire for a better and safer community, were the real heroes of the election," Schwartzkopf said.

Outspoken Soviet Critic Arrested

Moscow (AP) — Former Soviet army Maj. Gen. Pyotr Grigoryenko, one of the outspoken leaders of Moscow's dissident intellectuals, was arrested Wednesday in Tashkent and charged with anti-Soviet slander, friends in Moscow reported.

Grigoryenko, 63, was in Tashkent to protest the trial of a group of Crimean Tatars, a minority group that is seeking restoration of rights lost during World War II.

The apartments of four of Grigoryenko's friends were searched Wednesday night in Moscow. Two American correspondents were present during the search of one apartment and were detained by police until they gave brief verbal statements of why they were there. They were then released.

The colorful ex-general was demoted and expelled from the army during the regime of Nikita S. Khrushchev for criticizing Soviet policies.

Grigoryenko, a former lecturer in cybernetics at Moscow's Frunze Military Academy, has boldly challenged Soviet secret police at several recent Moscow trials of other protesters. On one occasion, he was taken into custody by police but was released after questioning.

Twice wounded in World War II, he walks with a cane but otherwise is a robust, active champion of free speech in the Soviet Union.

Besides taking an interest in the plight of the Tatars, he has spoken out against the Soviet-bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia and the suppression of literary freedoms in the Soviet Union.

Eighth General In 15 Days Dies

Moscow (AP) — The defense ministry newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda reported Wednesday the death of Maj. Gen. Igor K. Antonov, a leading political officer of the Soviet antiaircraft forces. It said he died at age 57 after a long illness.

Antonov was the eighth Soviet general reported dead in the past 15 days. Nothing in the obituaries has suggested any connection between the deaths.

Catholic Figures Show Drop

New York (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church in the United States reported Wednesday that there were marked decreases in the past year in the numbers of clergymen, nuns, teachers, schools and places of worship — and the smallest membership growth in a quarter century.

In a newly issued statistical summary, the 1969 official Catholic Director said membership increased 404,905 to a total of 47,873,238, the smallest gain since 1944. This includes 102,864 new converts, the lowest number since 1947.

There was a drop of 407 in the number of Catholic educational institutions, leaving 13,428 of them. The biggest decline hit among the economically strained elementary and high schools, 446 of which ceased operating in the past year. There still are 12,587 of them.

Enrollment in them shrank by 221,506 to 5,033,270.

The count of professional religious personnel also fell, particularly among the sisterhoods. There are 167,167 nuns, down 9,174 from last year. Ordination of new clergymen also failed to keep up with departures, by death or otherwise, the total slipping 183 to a total of 59,620. There were 280 members of the hierarchy, up 13.

Proposals To Abolish Several Advisory Groups Opposed

By Associated Press

A host of testifiers protested Wednesday to legislation which would abolish a variety of advisory committees financed by the state's general fund during a Budget Committee hearing.

Among the organizations which would be done away with through LB1343 or LB1344 are the State Aeronautics Commission, the State Highway Advisory Commission, the Hospital and Medical Facilities Advisory Council and the State Committee for the Reorganization of School Districts.

Rush Clark, chairman of the North Platte Airport Authority, said the State Aeronautics Commission acts not soley in and advisory capacity, but handles the important task of distributing both federal and state funds.

Abolishing the commission would be "a giant step backwards," he said, "just when the federal government is taking a giant step forward" by proposing more funds for airports.

Most opponents of the bills said the cost of maintaining the committees exceeds by far their worth to the state.

Joe R. Seacrest of Lincoln said the hospital and medical $2,859 last year, yet established a program for the distribution of $2.1 million in federal funds. The council's chore has become "a political hot potatoe," he said.

The committee informed those attending the public hearing that the committee, in introducing the bill, sought to review the workings of the advisory organizations. The measures were held for later disposition.

Also spawning opposition was the committee-introduced LB1372, which would allow the State Railway Commission to assess up to one-half of one per cent of operating revenues for investigations against a carrier.

Committee Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings pointed out that the bill was intended to deal only with rate-setting cases and not all complaints.

Measure Designed To Help GI Get Civic Center Moves

A bill designed to help Grand Island acquire a civic and cultural center was sent to the legislative floor on a 6-0 vote of the Urban Affairs Committee after a public hearing Wednesday.

The recently-introduced bill, LB1388, authorizes first class cities to enter into long term lease contracts on real and personal property for approved municipal purposes.

Grand Island representatives appeared to explain how a non-profit organization plans to construct the proposed civic center and the city needs to be able to enter into a lease arrangement for a period longer than the one year now allowed.

The cities of Omaha and Lincoln and all Nebraska counties presently hold the long term lease power, the committee was told.

LB1388 was amended to extend the privilege also to second class cities and villages.

Plan To Assess Parents Of Blind, Deaf Axed

The Legislature's Public Health and Welfare committee Wednesday killed a bill under which parents of students at the state schools for the blind and deaf would have been required to pay for their childrens' keep.

The decision to axe the measure, LB1354, came on a 5-0 vote. A kill attempt after the bill's public hearing last month had failed, 3-4.

Proponents of the bill, including the Nebraska Association for Mentally Retarded, had contended the measure would make parents of the blind and deaf face the same requirement as the parents of mentally retarded children who pay their childrens' board and room at the Beatrice State Home.

Committee Chairman Sen. Elmer Wallwey of Emerson said the association had changed its mind since the bill's public hearing and had asked that the measure be killed.

Also killed by the committee was Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's LB852, which would have transferred county medicaid funding responsibility to the state.

The bill had earlier been sent to the floor, but committee members Wednesday voted to reconsider the measure and then killed it 5-2.

The state and county currently each provide about 20% of medicaid funding, with the federal government providing the other 60%.

Kokes Says Legislature's Tentative Game Unit Decision Won't Hold Up

Sen. Rudolf Kokes of Ord Wednesday said he believes the Legislature's tentative decision to keep the Game, Forestation and Parks Commission headquartered in Lincoln will not "hold up in the final showdown."

Lawmakers voted 23-16 earlier in the day to amend Kokes' bill transferring the headquarters to Ord in order to direct the commission to remain in Lincoln.

Kokes said the decision represented "a black day for outstate Nebraska" and resulted from the absence of "many supporters" of his proposal to move the operations out of Lincoln.

When the bill, LB576, is considered later on the floor, Kokes said, senators will realize that it "will determine whether any other part of the state will ever receive any of the benefits that Lincoln generally enjoys."

Among the list of 10 senators who did not vote on Wednesday's decision were four outstate lawmakers, two Lanraster County senators and four Omahans.

Micronesian Ties To U.S. Suggested

© New York Times Service

Chalan Kanoa, Saipan, Marianas Islands — A political status commission in Micronesia, a collection of 2,141 Pacific islands and atolls, has recommended that the territory be made a self-governing nation in a "free association" with the United States.

In the event that the negotiations for an American link are unsuccessful, the commission suggested that "complete independence" be sought. The far-flung islands and their 93,000 brown-skinned inhabitants, scattered over an ocean area the size of continental United States, are now under American rule as a United Nations trusteeship.

The importance of Micronesia to the United States was underscored here this week with a visit by Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel, whose department is responsible for the islands' administration. With U.S. military bases in Japan and Okinawa under increasing political attack, attention has been focused on the islands as a possible new defense perimeter in the western Pacific.

"Public opinion has been so opposed to the American administration of the Trust Territory that the United States cannot take the Micronesians for granted," Sen. Lazarus Salii, chairman of the six-man status commission, said in an interview.

However, he said, against a background of long colonial rule, first by Spain, then Germany and Japan, most islanders are strongly favorable to a permanent conection with the United States.

The status commission was appointed two years ago by the Congress of Micronesia, a legislative body with limited powers. The group, composed of four senators and two members of the lower house in the all-island congress, will make its formal report in July.

"The recommendation for internal self-government and free association with the United States will be the core of the report," said Salii, a 33-year-old graduate of the University of Hawaii.

Bill Providing Relocation Payments Held For Amendments

A bill providing for relocation payments to families and businesses displaced by highway construction was held for clarifying amendments Wednesday by the Legislature's Public Works Committee.

The committee-sponsord LB1382 would permit the Department of Roads to use federal funds in compensating property owners for "dislocation damages" in addition to the normal condemnation award.

Under the proposed measure, Harry Salter, department attorney, said dislocation damages up to $5,000 for a residence and $25,000 for a business could be allowed where warranted by economic conditions.

May Pay More

Under some circumstances in urbanized areas, the homeowner may have to pay more for a "comparable residence" in another location than his residential property being acquired for highway purposes, Salter said. "This would permit a dislocation payment where indicated by local economic conditions."

Salter said the department would also be required to give relocation assistance to displaced families and businesses.

Federal participation would be 100% to July, 1970, but would then revert to the usual matching fund ratio for the particular highway project.

Nix Power Sale

In other action, the committee killed on a 5-1 count a measure repealing Nebraska's statutory prohibition against a public power district selling, leasing or disposing of its real or personal property to a private electric utility company or association.

"I don't think any public power district would sell out to private interests," said Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, introducer of LB697.

However, Holmquist said he is concerned that public power districts pay no taxes.

Need Tax Bill

"Instead of this bill, maybe what is needed is a constitutional amendment so power districts will pay taxes," he said.

Opposition to the bill came from the state's public power districts, Nebraska Rural Electric Association, and the municipal electric utilities.

Spokesmen said Nebraska has the sixth lowest power rates in the nation, and lower than any of its neighboring states.

"Do investor-owned utilities pay taxes," suggested Vern Livingston, Nebraska City utilities manager, "or do they just collect the taxes from the consumers."

Problems Aired

William Norton, Osceola attorney representing the rurals, said, "Public power has its problems, but these problems have been fully aired so the Legislature can take care of them if it desires."

"This bill is not a solution," he said, but would upset the efforts of the Nebraska people since the thirties to put together a statewide public power system.

Health Director's Pay Lid Gets Second Round OK

The Legislature gave second round floor approval Wednesday to a bill to place a $27,500 per year ceiling on the state health director's salary.

The ceiling was placed on the salary with the adoption of an amendment to the bill offered by State Sen. William Wylie of Elgin. It was adopted by a voice vote of the Unicameral.

As originally written, LB428 would have removed the present $18,000 a year limit on the director's salary and allowed the State Health Board to set whatever limit it wished.

The bill, in its original form, had been passed several weeks ago but was recalled the day after its passage when the Unicameral became angry at what some members called "the premature actions of the health board."

Just hours after the original bill had been passed, the State Health Board hired an acting director for $30,000 a year.

The Legislature, angered at the board's action, then called the bill back before the governor had a chance to put his signature on it.

In offering his amendment to set a $27,500 a year limit, Wylie said this figure is the average of what most state health directors in the country are now receiving.

Tokyo Crime Rate Up

Tokyo (AP) — There were 277,000 reported crimes in Tokyo last year, about one every two minutes, the metropolitan police board reported. It said that figure was 17,500 higher than the 1967 total.

Road Bond Measure Passed, Recalled For Change

The Legislature Wednesday gave solid 39-3 final reading approval to a bill which would create the Nebraska Highway Bond Commission, then recalled the bill an hour later for a technical amendment.

The measure, LB948, thus will be subjected to another final reading test after the amendment is adopted.

LB948 gives the new commission authority to issue special obligation highway bonds once their issuance has been approved by a three-fifths vote of the members of the Legislature.

Another bill, LB1305, which has been stalled at the first stage of floor consideration for two weeks, would authorize the issuance of $30 million in bonds during the coming fiscal biennium.

Opposition Votes

Only senators who voted against enactment of the commission proposal were Sens. Clifton Batchelder and Sam Klaver, both of Omaha, and Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa.

The bill, co-sponsored by Sens. Jules Burbach of Crofton and Jerome Warner of Waverly, was a key recommendation of the legislative highway study committee.

Burbach, the first senator to publicly suggest the use of highway bonds, served as committee chairman during the interim between the 1965 and 1967 legislative sessions. Warner was chairman in the interim from 1967 to 1969.

LB948 implements a constitutional amendment approved by the voters last November.

33 Votes Needed

If bonds are to be issued in time to be used during this construction year, the companion bill will need at least 33 votes. LB948 was enacted as an emergency measure and will become law upon signature of the governor.

The bond commission will be composed of the governor, the state engineer, the chairman of the state highway commission and three members appointed by the governor, and subject to legislative confirmation.

They may issue bonds only as authorized by the Legislature.

A further limitation on the commission's authority is written into LB948 in the form of a requirement that total debt retirement obligations for a year never exceed 50% of annual highway revenue.

Bonds may be sold at public or private sale.

LB1305 would authorize issuance of $20 million in bonds this year, and another $10 million in 1971.

The vote on LB948:

For: Adamson, Budd, Burbach, Carpenter, Carstens, Craft, Danner, Duis, Elrod, Harsh, Hasebroock, Holmquist, Johnson, Kennedy, Keyes, Knight, Kokes, Luedtke, Mahoney, Marvel, Moulton, Moylan, Orme, Pedersen, Proud, Robinson, Schreurs, Skarda, Stull, Syas, Waldo, Waldron, Wallwey, Warner, Wenzlaff, Whitney, Wiltse, Wylie, Ziebarth.

Against: Batchelder, Klaver, Nore.

Not Voting: Kremer, Simpson.

Absent: Bloom, Clark, Reynolds, Schmidt, Swanson.

This Week's Health Tip

Here's a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association!

Should you avoid making decisions when you have a headache? If you have some aches and pains, should you put off complicated tasks that require muscular coordination? The fact is that pain does affect your ability to function effectively.

Studies show that — even a mild headache — affects your ability to think and reason. The more difficult a mental task, the more pain curtails ability to perform it. And even mild pain affects other kinds of performance.

Muscular coordination suffers. This means your ability to drive a car goes down when you are in pain. Reaction time is slowed.

Pain also slows down your mental clock. Time appears to pass much more slowly than it does.

So, if your are feeling below par — and if that important task can be done later — it may be a good idea to postpone it.

Warm-Footed Suspect Lost Boot In Door

Sheridan, Wyo. (AP) — When Sheridan police arrested Irwin D. Tobacco, he had a boot on one foot and eight socks on the other.

"I was only trying to keep my foot warm," he said.

But Tobacco was fined $30 and ordered to keep his foot warm in the town jail.

Police found his other boot wedged in the door of a Sheridan store where there had been an attempted break-in.

Senators Refuse To Revive Limit On Bill Introductions

By Associated Press

The Legislature refused Wednesday to revive a bill proposing a constitutional amendment to limit to 20 the number of bills an individual senator could introduce at one legislative session.

A motion to override the Government Committee and place LB1200 on general file received a 30-13 favoring vote, but needed 33 approving votes.

Sen. William Wylie of Elgin sponsored the bill.

A motion to revive the measure after the Government Committee had killed it was voted upon last week and appeared to have received exactly the necessary 33 votes. But a recheck showed the favoring votes totaled only 32 and the motion was declared lost.

Sen. Eugene T. Mahoney of Omaha, who had been absent when last week's vote was taken, moved for reconsideration and the whole problem of excessive bill introductions received a new floor airing. But the constitutional amendment control device failed again to win the needed support.

Supports Concept

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, top bill introducer at the current session, said he supports the concept if steps are taken also to curb bill introductions through committees.

"The people are sick and tired of all these bills because they don't understand why we introduce the bills," Carpenter said.

"The newspapers and others have given the people the right to believe that we are a little out of our minds. And that may be so — but not from the standpoint of the introduction of bills.

"In my case, I have about 250 bills which I am the sponsor of. They are all reasonably important bills in my judgment and I think I can say over 50% of them will probably be passed. That of itself would indicate there must be some necessity for this bills, because certainly you're not passing them because you happen to like me."

Other Methods

There were suggestions that legislative rules or state law — rather than the constitution — be used to limit bill introductions.

Receipt of two new bills Wednesday hike the current session's total to 1,392. The old record high of 947 was set two years ago.

Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa said Nebraskans are "scared to death" by some of the "wild bills" introduced.

Sen. George Syas of Omaha suggested that writing bill limitations into the rules does no good because the Unicameral, especially at the current session, ignores its own rules.

5 Ethics Board Appointees OK'd

The Unicameral Wednesday unanimously approved the five appointments made by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann to the newly-created Code of Ethics Board.

The five persons who were confirmed by the Legislature are:

—State Engineer Marvin Nuernberger
—State Tax Commissioner Murrell B. McNeil
—Director of Administrative Services Robert Rogers
—Mrs. Marie Vogt of Bancroft, a lay member
—Donald R. Treadway of Fullerton, a lay member.

Municipal Courts For First Class Cities OK'd

By Associated Press

A bill which has the effect of creating municipal courts in Scottsbluff and Grand Island was approved on final reading in the Legislature Wednesday.

Specifically, Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's LB1293 requires estabishment of municipal courts in first class cities of more than 13,000 population located in a county having more than 33,000 inhabitants as determined by the 1960 census. Only Grand Island and Scottsbluff meet these population requirements. Omaha, a metropolitan class city, and Lincoln, a primary class city, already have such municipal courts.

In the first class cities not meeting the population standards, creation of municipal courts is optional, but needs to be approved by voters at an election.

LB2193 was passed on a 38-0 vote with the emergency clause attached.

A bill revising Nebraska's mandatory scientific tax reappraisal law, Sen. Carpenter's LB84, was passed 41-0.

LB84 eliminates a requirement that counties repeat the tax reappraisals periodically, but requires annual review and updating of the initial scientific appraisals, and requires use of reappraisal finding in property taxation.

The list of bills passed (E-emergency clause):

LB1262 (Carpenter) — Eliminating powers of boards of adjustment in first and second class cities and villages to hear and act upon requests for special exemptions or variances to zoning. 42-0.

LB1272 (Hasebrook, Ziebarth) — Clarifying language in law related to form of municipal ordinances. 43-0

LB1273 (Hasebroock, Ziebarth) — Broadening authority of second class cities and villages to include provision for malls, plazas, landscaping, pedestrian walks, fountains, decorative water ponds and lighting systems. 43-0

LB1293 (Carpenter) — Establishing municipal courts in cities having a population of more than 13,000 and located in counties with more than 33,000 persons according to 1960 census, and making such courts option in other first class cities. (E) 38-0

LB84 (Carpenter, Waldo) — Eliminating a requirement that counties repeat scientific property reappraisals but requiring annual review and updating of appraisals and requiring use of reappraisal findings in property taxation. (E) 41-0.

LB348 (Holmquist) — Permitting payments subsequent to the initial award for damages to fencing and crops which occur in connection of acquisition of easements by eminent domain. 43-0

Penal Institutions Conjugal Visits Bill Is Introduced

By Associated Press

The Legislature accepted for introduction Wednesday a so-called "conjugal visits" bill, sponsored by the Urban Affairs Committee.

The measure, LB1392, permits spouses and families to make overnight visits to inmates of the Nebraska Penal Complex and State Women's Reformatory. The measure also authorizes furloughs at home for these inmates.

Another bill introduced Wednesday, LG1391, would authorize temporary eight-week medical-surgical licenses for out-of-state practitioners, enabling them to serve as "vacation relief" for Nebraska doctors.

Committee Advances Alternative To Reorganization Bill

By The Associated Press

A watered-down version of a bill intended as an alternative to mandatory school reorganization made its way to the floor of the Unicameral Wednesday.

Approved by the Education Committee on a 5-1 vote, the amended LB1377 will be part of the stage-setting Thursday when the Legislature begins debate on the mandatory reorganization bill, LB1342, proposed by the Little Hoover Commission.

That bill was earlier killed by the Education Committee, but Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter set debate for Thursday on his attempt to push the bill past the committee's veto.

Move Up Date

As amended, the committee-sponsored LB1377 will move up its effective date to Sept. 1, 1969, but exciudes a previous prohibition on the formation of the special Class VI (rural high school) districts.

In its original form, only districts offering kinder garten-through-12th grade instruction (K-12) could have been formed after July 1, 1970.

But an amendment accepted Wednesday would aiso allow the formation of 7-12 Class VI districts, formed by the partial merger of several Class I (elementary-only) districts, each of which retains its separate identity.

Part of Package

The biil is part of a two-bill package which the Education Committee introduced as an alternative to the mandatory school reorganization bill, LB1342.

The other half of the package, LB1378, had already been approved by the committee. It would allow the permanent transfer of "freeholder" land from Class I districts into districts offering K-12 instruction.

The committee also advanced a proposed constitutional amendment under which the Legislature could make the State Board of Education an appointive body.

3 Bills Killed

Killed were bills which would have allowed Class IV districts to retain land annexed by municipalities (LB1237), required 75% of educational service units' budgets to be spent on "direct aid" to students (LB1271), and placed the University of Nebraska regents in charge of all four-year educational institutions (LB1115).

One of two bills affecting aid to parochial and private schools, Omaha Sen. Harold Moylan's LB1022, was also killed by the committee.

The bill would have allowed the state to segregate money received from the federal government for educational purposes. Opponents had claimed the measure was unconstitutional.

Vote Failed

The other bill, Omaha Sen. Eugene Mahoney's LB1033, remained in the committee after a move to send the bill to the floor failed on a 4-2 vote. Five votes were required.

The measure would submit a constitutional amendment to voters authorizing the Legislature to make grants to nonpublic schools for nonreligious studies, but limiting such aid to one-third the per pupil cost in comparison to public schools.

Amended and advanced were bills revising the requirements and procedures in preparing educational service unit budgets (LB1097) and LB632, which would authorize school districts in which children from military bases attend school to charge the children's parents for tuition costs not paid by the federal government.

Amendment On Ed Board Is Sent To Unicam Floor

The Legislature's Education Committee Wednesday sent to the floor a bill which would submit a constitutional amendment to voters allowing the Legisiature to make the State Board of Education an appointed body.

Action on Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's LB1366 came on the eve of a special board meeting which Board Member Deborah Shepherd of Lexington requested to clear the air over the future tenure of Education Commissioner Floyd Miller.

The meeting will begin at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in the State Capitol.

Another outgrowth of the Dr. Miller controversy, a proposed legislative resolution to censure the state board or at least some members of it, was held in the committee after an attempt to get the proposal to the floor failed.

The vote to put Grand Island Sen. Don Eirod's resolution on the floor fell two votes short of success on a 3-2 count. Five votes are needed for committee action on any measure.

'Pete' Peterson State's 1st Negro City Councilman

Sen. Edward R. Danner of Omaha, only Negro member of the legislature, said Wednesday his studies of Negro history in Nebraska indicate Harry (Pete) Peterson of Lincoln has become the first Negro ever elected to a city council in Nebraska.

Peterson was one of three Lincoln city councilmen elected by voters Tuesday.

"The people of Lincoln should be proud of themselves," said Danner. "It would be impossible for a Negro to get elected to the city council in Omaha."

Austria Takes Czechs

Vienna (AP) — Austria took in 7,125 refugees, most from Czechoslovakia between Aug. 22, 1968 and April 27 this year, Interior Minister Franz Soronic reported. He said 4,696 of the refugees have moved to other countries but 2,429 are still here.

Senators Back Lincoln Site For New Game Unit Office

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

They kicked over Rudy's bucket in the Legislature Wednesday.

By a 23-16 vote, lawmakers amended pending legislation to direct that the State Game, Forestation and Parks Commission construct its proposed new headquarters building in Lincoln.

Down the drain went Sen. Rudolf Kokes' lengthy drive to move the commission's operations to his hometown of Ord.

Kokes' bill, LB576, was transformed into a vehicle to authorize the commission to enter into a lease-purchase agreement with the City of Lincoln to construct the building north of Holdrege and east of 33rd.

First Floor Test

The bill then cleared its first floor test on a 32-5 vote.

Kokes had long held out for the Ord location, battling a number of efforts by other senators to use his bill to relocate the commission in their home districts.

At one point during the long debate — which has stretched over several weeks — Kokes asked other lawmakers to "get your dipper out of my bucket." Wednesday, they knocked over the bucket.

Sen. Terry Carptenter of Scottsbluff offered the successful motion to amend LB576 to provide for the agreement between Lincoln and the commission.

"Lincoln is the only place that is ready," he contended. The financing is arranged, and the commission will lose $500,000 in federal funds "if we don't rush this along by June 2," Carpenter said.

Would Not Move

Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln said relocation of the commission headquarters would "ruin the department" because most of its employes would not move from the Capital City, where they have their homes and other interests.

Sen. Leslie Stull of Alliance proposed an alternative amendment which would have directed the commission to move outstate, to an unspecified site, but he withdrew the proposal after senators accepted Carpenter's plan.

Also withdrawn was a proposed amendment by Sen. Ellen Craft to locate the commission's operations in her hometown of North Platte.

Kokes made the motion to advance the bill, but warned lawmakers that "we may further amend this bill on select file."

'Happy Birthday' Time In Suburbia

Birthday celebrations have been the most frequent activity in suburbia of late, and since happenings of that sort make for news of the very best variety, we'll waste no more time in relating the details of all the festivities.

The first of our birthdays occurred on Tuesday, April 29, and the celebrant was young Michael Rack, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Rack of Trendwood. On that particular day Michael became a three-year-old, and he observed the occasion by inviting two of his friends for lunch (complete with cake and ice cream of course) at Hillcrest Country Club. On hand to wish Michael a happy birthday were Coralou and Brooke Baker.

Last Sunday, Michael was guest of honor at a family dinner at his home which was attended by his grandfather, William Kipf of Beatrice; and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Kipf, Jr. and their family, also of Beatrice.

We understand that Mrs. Rack also recently observed her birthday anniversary, and that she celebrated in a rather unusual way. Friday, May 2 was Mrs. Rack's special day, and it seems that she and Mr. Rack spent the evening as chaperones at a party given by Triangle fraternity. Mrs. Rack tells us that she was far from forgotten at the festivities — those in attendance presented her with a cake and many best wishes.

Dr. and Mrs. Rack also did some entertaining recently for an out-of-state visitor who spent the weekend of April 26 as a guest at their home. Enjoying a brief stay with Dr. and Mrs. Rack was Miss Lenora Smith of Great Bend, Kan.

Observing his 18th birthday on Monday of this week was Duayne Nelson, son of Park Manor residents Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nelson. Mrs. Nelson tells us, however, that last week was the really busy one for her son who was the recipient of a number of honors. Duayne, who is a senior at Lincoln High School, reigned as king of the Junior-Senior Prom at Lincoln High; was named a member of the North team which will play in the Shrine Bowl football game; and became a member of National Honor Society.

Planning to do some entertaining this weekend are Park Manor residents Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Adams. Arriving to spend the Mother's Day weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Adams will be Mrs. Adams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Meade of Emmetsburg, Iowa.

We understand that Mr. and Mrs. Adams' son, John, recently moved to Cincinnati, Ohio, where he will be working. He is currently staying with his brother, Tom, who is associated with Proctor and Gamble in Cincinnati. Mrs. Adams tells us that her sons enjoyed attending the Kentucky Derby last Saturday.

MISS NANCY HOERLE

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. LaVern C. Hoerle of Chambers, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Nancy Marie, to Gregory Michael Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Carter of Lincoln.

Saturday, June 14 is the wedding date.

Miss Hoerle is attending the University of Nebraska where she is an advertising major in the School of Journalism.

Mr. Carter is a former student at Wayne State College and has attended the University of Nebraska.

MISS JEAN ANN CHERRY

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Neil Cherry make announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jean Ann, to Manuel Vigo-Torres, son of Mrs. Marie Vigo of Staten Island, N.Y.

Miss Cherry is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Towne Club. For the past three years and a half she has been a member of the Denver public schools faculty.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, June 21, and the ceremony will be solemnized in the chapel at Nellis Air Force Base, Las Vegas, Nev., where Mr. Vigo is stationed.

Brunch

To honor the graduating seniors of the collegiate chapter at the University of Nebraska, the Chi Omega Alumnae will entertain at a brunch Saturday morning, at the home of Mrs. Edward Copple, 5300 Everett.

Mrs. Robert Pardee, alumnae president, will preside at the short program, and special guests will be the mothers of the seniors.

Chairman of the hostess committee is Mrs. Tom Hedrick.

Bridal Courtesies

A former coed at the University of Nebraska who is making plans for a June wedding is Miss Phyllis Rae Sattler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sattler, who will become the bride of James Schmitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Schmitz on Saturday, June 21.

To honor the bride-to-be on Friday, May 16, Mrs. Clyde Marshall and her daughter, Miss Diane Marshall, will be hostesses at a bridal shower to be held at their home during the evening hours.

A miscellaneous shower was presented to Miss Sattler at a recent courtesy given by Mrs. Emma McGuire and her daughter, Miss Sandra McGuire, who entertained a group of guests at their home.

For the ceremony, which will be solemnized at high noon, at St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Miss Sandi Sattler will attend her sister as maid of honor. Miss Sandra McGuire will be the bridesmaid, and bridesmatron will be Mrs. Joe Johnson, sister of Mr. Schmitz.

Joe Vculek will serve Mr. Schmitz as best man, and the groomsmen will be Terry Sattler and Tom Schmitz, brothers of Miss Sattler and her fiance. The bride-elect's brother, Tom Sattler, and Joe Johnson will seat the guests.

A student at the University of Nebraska, Mr. Schmitz will receive his degree in June.

The bridal courtesies for Miss Lynne Staples, daughter of Dr and Mrs. Robert Staples, who has chosen June 1 as the date for her marriage to Steven Metcalf, will begin on Wednesday when the bride-elect's Kappa Delta sorority sisters will present her with a kitchen shower.

The party will be held at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Miss Peg Ross, and co-hostesses will be Miss Kathy Hendrickon and Miss Karen Toebben.

A bridal shower also will be presented to Miss Staples on Friday evening, May 16, when her fiance's aunt, Mrs. John Sperry, will entertain a group of guests at her home.

Also honoring the bride-to-be will be Mr. Metcalf's aunts, Mrs. Everett Owens and Mrs. George Johnson, who will be hostesses at a morning coffee and bridal shower on Saturday, May 24, at the home of Mrs. Owens.

Miss Staples is a student at the University of Nebraska. Her fiance, who is the son of Mr and Mrs. George Metcalf, also attends the university and is a member of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity.

TALK OF THE TOWN

People make the news, 'tis said — and it is true. Needless to say we like it that way, especially this morning when the conversation is about people. There is a guest to mention — a bride-elect — and a homecomer, all of whom are interesting.

* * *

Our guest is Mrs. Lionel Henkle of Westbrook, Conn., who is the house guest of her aunt, Mrs. E. H. Polley.

Mrs. Henkle, the former Nell Youngers — a Delta Gamma and popular campus coed during her college days at the University of Nebraska, is stopping off in Lincoln en route home from California and Mexico City. During her stay of 10 days or two weeks in Lincoln, she will devote some time to her old hometown, Geneva.

* * *

The bride-elect we have in mind is Miss Jan Binger whose marriage to Joe Carroll, Jr., will be solemnized on Saturday morning, May 24, at the Cathedral of the Risen Christ.

Miss Binger arrived from Cleveland, Ohio, where she has been careering, last Monday to find a bulging courtesy calendar.

The first of the parties for Miss Binger will be on Friday when Mrs. Selmer Solheim entertains at luncheon at her home. During the afternoon the soon-to-be bride will be presented with a personal shower.

* * *

Spring was a little late this year — if we are to judge by homecomers, that is.

Tuesday evening brought Mrs. Carl P. Rohman home from Delray Beach, Fla., where she spent the winter at her winter resort home.

* * *

And not too long ago we spoke of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Baldwin and their May homecoming — Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin, as you know are winter residents of Scottsdale — and they are now back in Lincoln.

* * *

There is a 'Casino' party on Friday evening — We don't know exactly how far the casino angle will go, but we do know that the members of the Colonial Dance Club are planning on a festive evening.

The dinner dance will be held at Hotel Lincoln, and the committee is composed of Col. and Mrs. E. R. Powell, chairman; Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Meierhenry, Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Dworak, Mr. and Mrs. John Aronson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Olson, Dr. and Mrs. William Ress, Dr. and Mrs. Bowen Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Groth and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jolliff.

The guest couples include Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Farnsworth of Sioux Falls, S.D., and Mr. and Mrs. Hilmar Martini, Lake Okoboji, Iowa.

* * *

Hear that something new has been added to Lincoln's summer activity — It's the Cabaret Theater at Hotel Lincoln, sponsored by the Lincoln Community Playhouse — Thursday, July 3, is the opening date.

Garage Sale To Benefit YW Center

Everything imaginable is beginning to be collected at the Havelock YWCA Center this week for the fascinating "garage sale" to be held at the center next Wednesday, May 14.

Planned as a benefit to help finance needed repairs at the center, including fresh paint and new cupboards, the 9 o'clock-to-9 o'clock sale will have something of interest for everyone — and all in good repair.

There will be books and clothing and articles best known as "white elephants"; there will be furniture including many accessories for the baby's nursery; there will be baked goods contributed by the Gateway Homemakers, and a variety of plants, the contribution of Garden Club members.

Busy arranging and cataloguing a few of the "treasures" for sale are members of the committee, (from the left), Mrs. Lloyd Weathermon, Mrs. Mike Costello, Mrs. Don Matthes, Mrs. Eddie Gold, Mrs. Del Dirrim, chairman, and Mrs. Guy Matson. Also a committee member is Miss Barbara Kollmorgan, YW staff aide.

Opening lead — two of spades.

Let's imagine you're East, defending five clubs. You win the spade lead with the king, declarer dropping the queen, but what should you do next?

If you play without thought and continue with a spade, declarer ruffs, forces out your ace of trumps, and soon after chalks up his contract with 100 honors.

But if you are a reasonably careful player, you stop to try to figure out what everybody has before leading a card at trick two.

It is not difficult to decide that South's queen of spades is a singleton. With 15 high card points in dummy, 14 in your own hand, and South's overcall of two clubs, it seems highly likely that your partner's spade raise was based on four-card trump support and distributional values, rather than high cards.

Once you recognize that a spade continuation is sure to be ruffed, the question arises whether it is better to shift to something else to try to get the three tricks you need to beat the contract. Obviously your ace of trumps is good for a second trick, but where is the third one coming from?

If West has a trump trick, you can afford to stand pat because the contract will eventually go down by force. But if West lacks a trump trick, he is bound to have the king of hearts for his raise, and you should therefore return a heart at trick two (preferably the queen, since partners have been known to fail to put up the king in this type of situation).

As it happens, the heart return kills the contract and there is nothing declarer can do about it. But notice that even if West had not held the king of hearts, your play would have done no harm, because declarer would then have had enough tricks for game against any defense.

Exercise Keeps Figure Trim

Marjorie Holmes has successfully combined rearing a family and a career as a writer and teacher. Her latest book "I've Got To Talk To Somebody, God," published by Doubleday and Company, is terrifically popular.

I have often noted that when we investigate the lives of those who accomplish so much we almost always discover that they have a backlog of good health and take care of it. Miss Holmes is no exception. This attractive woman attributes her energy to a good constitution and sports.

She adores water skiing and swimming. In fact, from May to November she swims every day before breakfast in the lake near her house. She says, "It's dreadful getting into that water the first few times you try it, but you feel so great by the time you come out that you soon look forward to it."

If you do not have a lake, she suggests a cold shower and advises slapping the body lightly so you won't feel chilly at all. She feels that this tones the muscles and brightens the circulation. This, aside from keeping her skin very clean, is all that Miss Holmes does in order to achieve the lovely glow of her complexion.

Her figure is petite although she seldom diets. "I just try always to be conscious of holding my stomach in. This gives an erect posture and a flat line." Another of her secrets is that she uses housework as an exercise routine, doing pseudo-ballet steps she picked up from her daughter as she dusts, vacuums, and so forth.

She commented "Vanity is not such a bad thing as our Puritan forefatheres made it. It leads us to take better care of our bodies and better care of our health."

I have often written that holding the abdomen in is in itself an excellent exercise, and you can make your housework work for your figure. There is no reason to shuffle and slump around while we do it. A brisk attack on the chores, a few ballet steps in between, a good stretch when reaching for something or making the beds and a few bends from the waist when picking things up, all help.

When asked what it takes to write a column and ten books, rear a family, teach creative writing, and run a household, Marjorie Holmes answered promptly, "An understanding and helpful husband."

This is an exercise you can do with your broom. Stand with your feet separated. Take one end of the broom handle in each hand and raise your arms overhead, elbows straight. Stretch up toward the ceiling. Bend to the left and try to touch the end of the broom to the left toe. Again raise the arms overhead and stretch upward. This time bend to the right and touch the right toe. Raise arms and stretch upward. Continue slowly, alternating left and right.

If you do not already know how to swim, send for Mrs. Lowman's free leaflet, "Learn to Swim!" With her easy-to-follow directions even the not-so-adventurous older person may soon learn. Send only a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law is widowed and spends a lot of time with our family. She's a good soul and we wouldn't want to hurt her for anything.

The problem is that she is about 60 pounds overweight, and she's not very careful about the way she sits. Her dress hikes up and she shows more than people care to see.

Last night our sons (ages 10 and 12) had some friends over, and they were all sitting on the floor supposedly watching TV. Grandma was there in her usual position, and those kids barely took their eyes off Grandma.

She sits "side saddle" at meal time, instead of putting her knees together under the table. She says it's more "comfortable."

We keep telling her to watch how she sits. She'll be careful for a day or two, but then she goes back to her old ways.

How can we effect a permanent cure without hurting her feelings?

NO NAME

DEAR NO NAME: You probably can't. But just keep "reminding her" gently—and often. And by the way, this lady is old and obese, but what excuse can there be for some of those young, slim gals for sitting that way?

DEAR ABBY: I can add nothing to your suggestion to the woman whose husband "ignored" her after her hysterectomy.

However, for the sake of other women who may postpone or refuse that operation because they feel they may be considered "less of a woman" by an uninformed husband, let me express my feelings:

My wife had a hysterectomy 14 years ago, so I've seen her scar thousands of times. When I notice it I always have two feelings. One is sympathy for the pain she suffered to get that scar. The other is a feeling of thankfulness that she has it. Without that scar, I wouldn't have her either. I have friends who have no scar to look at. Their children have no mother.

Nation's 'Healthiest State' — Nebraska

"The healthiest spot in America is not the busiest, nor the hippiest, prettiest or even the pleasantest," says the May issue of Holiday Magazine in an article written by Joan Younger Dickinson — "It's in central Nebraska," the magazine continues, "and what people do there is live longer than the rest of us."

Why this is true remains a mystery but it is far from a myth as Jean Dickinson's research will prove. We're quoting from her story:

"The healthiest place in the United States for a middle-aged white male is a stretch of Nebraska prairie south of the Platte River, but nobody knows why.

There amid tall, windswept grass, corn and cattle, the chances of a man's succumbing to heart disease, of being felled by a stroke, of wasting away with lung cancer or even being run over by a car between his forty-fourth and sixty-fifth birthday are about 30 percent less than they are anywhere in the United States as a whole.

It's super-super healthy in the villages and towns which lie in the valleys of Nebraska's so-called Big Blue and Little Blue rivers, but even in the bustling capital city of Lincoln (pop. 161,000) there are only half as many fatal coronaries in the adult white male population as there are in the slow-moving southern city of Augusta, Georgia (pop. 70,626). The Lincoln men are so healthy that their death rate from any cause whatsoever is only slightly higher than it is for heart and kidney disease alone in Scranton, Pennsylvania, even if Scranton is about the same size.

Any place in the Great Plains area, from Minnesota to western Texas, a man has a good chance of being around for his golden wedding anniversary, but he stands a better chance of enjoying it in this stretch of Nebraska — no matter whether he's poor or rich.

In short, south central Nebraska is a place where a man can expect to achieve his three score and ten, as the Bible says, in fine fettle and then a few happy years more.

These didactic statements, astounding and annoying although they may be to medicine men, non-Nebraskans and dissidents in general, are supported not only by government statistics run through computers but also by the careful thinking and testing of an earnest, cautious Public Health Service scholar who is a real-life middle-aged white male himself. For almost a dozen years Dr. Herbert I. Sauer has been analyzing local and national heart-disease death rates and with mounting fascination has become convinced that the geographic link with healthy longevity is genuine — and that Nebraska's forty-year-old record is its most cheerful proof.

"This is no statisical fluke," Dr. Sauer told me, generously passing out charts and reports in his office at the University of Missouri's new medical building. "We've checked the geographic variable against ethnic background, cigarette sales, in- and out-of-state migration, sex ratios, medical facilities, and we've sampled enough in depth to make sure we're not dealing with basic errors like carelessly filled out death certificates, guesses on age, inaccurate medical diagnoses, or errors in computation. Consistently, for forty years, this stretch of Nebraska comes up smelling like a prairie rose."

I came in late on Dr. Sauer's mystery but being something of an oddball thinker with a warm and friendly prejudice in favor of healthy middle-aged men I was involved from the moment I read his 1968 pamphlet and eager to try my luck in search of secret health agent number one.

After studying the charts, the reports, and talking with Sauer and his ecological colleagues, I decided to try my own thing: a mixture of feminine intuition and on-the-spot noseyness to see if something visible in the style of Nebraskan life made it a veritable if unheralded spa of spas.

Well, now that I have been to Healthyville, I would like to be able to report that amid the tall, fragrant grass, life is tranquil and sweet, as rhythmic as nature itself, empty of strain and full of lean, strenuous men tilling the soil, herding the cattle and singing cheerfully 'Oh Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie' while back at the farmhouse their wives laugh tenderly and toss the salad greens for dinner.

But it's not that way at all.

It is true that your average Nebraskan male in the health belt rises as early as a Connecticut commuter and sacks out after the late news which comes an hour earlier (at ten) out there than it does in the east. It is true that instead of driving the old bus to the station every morning, he drives the tractor or the reaper or the uphill plough around the place. But the diet alone would drive any self-respecting cardiologist mad. These middle-aged white male Nebraskans are the heartiest eaters (no pun intended) I've ever seen, and have the sweet tooths of teenagers.

Take breakfast: fruit, eggs, hashbrowns or corncakes or both, ham or pork chops or bacon, or the works, and toast and coffee. Plus syrup on the corncakes, jam on the toast.

Lunch includes: thick slabs of beef or pork or ham or fried chicken, homefries or mashed-with-butter potatoes, and the vegetable in season — whipped squash when I was there since I'd just missed the sweet corn harvest. Plus a slice of apple pie with cheese and — I saw it, I ate it — cinnamon and sugar syrup overall.

Dinner alone would keep a pauper going for a week. It rolls on at six p.m. as if lunch had not been eaten a mere five hours ago: meat, two vegetables, dessert and coffee. Dessert may even be a little fancier than at lunch: one dandy new recipe for custard pudding I brought back mixes nuts, peaches, eggs, whipped cream and sugar, and is topped with gooseberry cordial.

The real snack of the Nebraskan day, however, is not an apple; it is a slice of pie or cake and cup of coffee taken during the 10 P.M. news. "It doesn't do for a man to go to bed on an empty stomach," was the dietary advice I gleaned from this experience. What's unnerving about all this delightful eating is that it has so few bad results. Obesity is rare; while not bony, the men are straight up and down and fit-looking and the women, although considerably more rounded than your chic New York matron, could at worst be only called plump.

There are lots of churches in South Central Nebraska, Lutheran, Catholic, Methodist, Baptist, Latter-Day Saints, Jehovah's Witnesses, Christian Scientist, Seventh-Day Adventist among others — but no one religion prevails nor does any religious practice.

No one, of course, has to attend church to share his brother's problems. There was evidence on sharing both pro and con. On the pro side: In the lobby of the Cornhusker Hotel in Lincoln there was a kindly sign declaring: "Welcome! Eat and Rest where Food is Best." In Long's Bookstore Mr. Long himself collected Nebraskiana for me. In De Witt there were four men and one expert interested in the fact that the loose fan belt on my car had knocked out the generator. Near Hastings a farmer let me wade in the Little Blue just in case it might be truly a fountain of youth. In Surprise, the cemetery caretaker directed me to the oldest part of the cemetery, carefully cutting a path through the grass for me with his rotary so that I wouldn't get my shoes dirty. And all the people in the historical museums, homes and offices I met racked their brains or their files for anything which might help to explain the mystery of their health longevity.

I began looking in the cemeteries to see how the settlers in this stretch of Nebraska fared in the 19th Century — when the women died before the men and nobody lived much beyond fifty. These Nebraskans were different even then. For instance, in the Methodist-Baptist cemetery near Surprise — where one local reporter claims, "No one hardly ever dies" — the first grave was dug in 1882 and there were about 100 graves in all. Yet there were so many people there who had lived more than seventy years I stopped counting them and started looking for those who lived more than ninety years. I found two: 1848-1943, and 1839-1931, plus a handful of octogenarians.

Wedding Plans

Miss Jane TeKolste of Lincoln, whose betrothal to Danny Ray Richardson of Cambridge, was revealed recently, has announced that her wedding will take place on Thursday evening, May 29, at the Firth Reformed Church.

For her maid of honor, the soon-to-be bride has named Miss Amy TeKolste of Firth, and the bridesmaids will be Mrs. Vinson VanEngen of Adams, Mrs. David Kats and Miss Judy VanFleet, Lincoln. Miss Joan Morgan and Miss Suzanne Morgan of Cambridge, will be the flower girls.

Lighting the chancel candles for the 8 o'clock ceremony will be Miss Peggy TeKolste and Miss Judy TeKolste, Firth.

Ronald Dewey of Lincoln, will serve Mr. Richardson as best man, and the groomsmen will be James Teter, Cambridge; Murl Abts, Big Springs; and R. John Rhoades, Lincoln. Clifford Obbink of Firth, and Ben Paisley, Lincoln, will seat the guests, and Greg Morgan of Cambridge, will be the ringbearer.

Breckenridge To Head Zoning Appeals Board

The Lincoln Board of Zoning Appeals elected Adam C. Breckenridge chairman of the board for the next year at its monthly meeting Wednesday.

Named vice chairman was Robert Sikyta.

The board deferred action on an appeal by Lois A. Cole for a building permit to construct an office building at 3435 No. 46th St.

Mrs. Cole, who requested the deferral, objected to the board's denial, which was made on the grounds that construction was in the path of the Northeast Diagonal.

Negotiations Planned

A spokesman for the city law department said Wednesday that the permit was denied because the department planned to immediately begin negotiations for the land.

The procedure now is to have the applicant for a building permit be referred to the law department so that negotiations may begin, rather than to deny the application for a permit on property in the path of the street.

The board also reversed itself on an earlier decision regarding a building permit for Dr. Phil Etzelmiller to build an irregular-shaped home at 3221 Southgate Circle.

Irregular

Members earlier denied the permit because the residence did not meet rear yard setback requirements but granted the waiver Wednesday on the basis that the property is irregularly shaped.

Board Member James Shelley objected to the board's granting the permit and then refusing an appeal by Paul Michaud for an addition to his present home at 5201 Heumann Drive.

The addition was denied because it would have extended into the required rear yard.

Shelley asked that the Michaud decision be reconsidered byt the approval motion failed to carry.

The board also approved an appeal by Wayne Kubert to construct a 12-unit apartment house at 2911 No. 53rd St. and denied an appeal by John Cejka for a parking lot at 5640 Seward.

College Accepts 3 Students From School For Deaf

Three graduating senior students at the Nebraska School for the Deaf in Omaha have been accepted on scholarship to attend Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C., this fall, Supt. George Thompson announced Wednesday.

The students are Michael Aquila of Omaha, Linda Cox of Omaha and Kenneth W. Eurek of Omaha.

Gaullaudet in the only college for the deaf in the world.

Seminaries Take Twelve From NWU

Twelve Nebraska Wesleyan seniors have been accepted by theological seminaries to continue their college work next fall.

The students hometowns, and seminaries are:

Ray Betka, Beatrice, Candler School of Tehology, Emory University, Atlanta, Ga.

Craig Butterfield, Lincoln, United Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio.

Ralph Ford, Norfolk, Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University, $2,100 scholarship.

Charles Leypoldt, Albion, St. Paul School of Theology, Kansas City, Missouri, full tuition scholarship ($1,000 per year).

Barney McLaughlin, Lincoln, Brite Divinity School, Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, Texas, $800 scholarship.

Most Congressmen Make Money From Investments

Washington (UPI) — Most congressmen, in addition to $42,500 annual legislative jobs, make money from a galaxy of outside financial investments ranging from banks to funeral homes, House records disclosed Wednesday.

Under a new financial disclosure law, records opened for public inspection show that nearly two of every three House members earn some form of outside income — either through stock investments, law firms or other business enterprises. How much they make is not disclosed.

Surveying the reports discloses that investments in bank stocks, or other financial institutions such as savings and loan associationeare front runners in port folio popularity.

The reports were made public by the House Ethics Committee.

More than 90 congressmen hold stock in banks and 37 of them hold some bank office or elected positions with other financial institutions. Ten members of the House Banking Committee own stock in financial institutions.

Before Congress convened this year, the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee said there were 310 lawyers (including senators' who do not file financial reports in the House) in Congress. But the Ethics Committee records show only 77 of the House members reported active outside legal practices.

Other investments cover the spectrum of industrial and financial activity—mutual funds, oil and gas, communications, telephone companies, railroads, insurance.

Among the 25 members of the House Ways and Means Committee, one of the most powerful panels in Congress, 14 members hold stock in either businesses or banks. Eleven reported no outside income, including Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.

At a glance, a survey shows few, if any, spectacular revelations. Many congressmen listed no sources of outside income. But the law is vague and some congressmen may have interpreted it to mean they were not required to file at all.

Negro Is Mayor Of White Town

Chapel Hill, N.C. (AP) — "I'll be walking a tightrope," says Howard Lee, the first Negro to be elected mayor of a predominantly white Southern town.

"I could be slaughtered from both sides, by white racists or the black militants."

Lee, 34, narrowly defeated a whitee opponent Tuesday to become the top municipal official in traditionally liberal Chapel Hill, home of the University of North Carolina.

"How I perform could have a heavy bearing on the political future of other Negroes," Lee said Wednesday. "If I do a good job it will pave the way for others to present themselves for office."

In the nonpartisan election, Lee carried precincts heavily populated by university professors and swept the predominantly Negro precincts.

The son of a sharecropper in Lithonia, Ga., Lee, the father of two children, came to Chapel Hill in 1964 to enroll at the university. He earned a master's degree in social work in 1966.

Girl Watching, Driving Prove Bad Mixture

Charleston, W. Va. (AP) — Men of all ages apparently appreciate a miniskirted girl.

A 60-year-old South Charleston businessman was backing out of his parking space Wednesday when his eye was caught by a girl in a miniskirt.

He kept on backing while he watched — smack into the side of a police car that was pulling in behind him.

Damage to both cars totaled $90, but there were no charges, police said.

2,000 Arab Guerrillas Lay Seige To Lebanese Village

By The Associated Press

About 2,000 Arab guerrillas beseiged a Lebanese village near the Israeli border Wednesday and the Beirut government accused a Syrian commando outfit of masterminding the assault.

A Lebanese communique said the mountain village of Hasbaya, close to the Israeli frontier, had been virtually encircled by guerrillas of Al Saika — Thunderbolt — affiliated with Syria's ruling Baath Party. There was no word on casualties.

Al Fatah, the biggest Palestinian guerrilla organization, claimed in a broadcast from Cairo that five of its men were killed by Lebanese troops on their way to a sabotage mission into Israel.

Lebanese military authorities promptly denied Al Fatah's claim. The Fatah broadcast said the sabotage unit was surrounded and gunned down by Lebanese troops "firing heavily with various types of weapons."

Despite Beirut's denial, Al Fatah's claim could mean more trouble for the Lebanese government which has been resisting guerrilla demands that it open its southern borders for commando forays into Israel. Lebanon fears Israeli reprisals.

Accused Spy Beat Up

Lisbon, Portugal (AP) — Militant students at Lisbon University severely beat up and expelled from a meeting a man they accused of being a secret police agent.

Abe Fortas Cancels Fee For Speech

Boston (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas, involved in a controversy over alleged acceptance of one fee, has canceled a fee he was to have received for a speech at Northeastern University, the chairman of the sponsoring organization said Wednesday.

Notice of the fee cancellation came Monday from the Harry Walker Agency in New York, which booked the Northeastern engagement.

The cancellation was confirmed by Tom Crane, student chairman of the committee sponsoring Fortas' appearance at Northeastern Thursday night.

"The agency called Monday and said the fee would be only $675, instead of the original $2,000," Crane said. He said the agency told him the $675 was to cover the agency's fees and Fortas' travel expenses to Boston from Washington.

The Fortas controversy was triggered by a Life magazine article released Sunday which alleged that Fortas was given a $20,000 fee in 1966 by the family foundation of industrialist Louis Wolfson, who began serving a one-year sentence for stock fraud last April 25. The article said Fortas returned the money 11 months after it was sent to him.

Fortas could not be reached for comment on the Northeastern fee cancellation, but a spokesman for the justice said in Washington Tuesday night that "he hasn't been accepting fees for speeches for quite some time."

In New York, a spokesman for the Harry Walker Agency confirmed that the $2,000 fee had been canceled but did not elaborate.

Crane said the agency gave no reason for its action when it called him Monday. He said he had not yet seen the Life article, and "it never entered my mind."

Ellsworth Approved

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted unanimously to confirm the nomination of Robert Ellsworth, a White House assistant and former congressman from Kansas, to be U.S. ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

ACTION LINE requests no money be sent with inquiries.

Could you tell me when W. V. Allen ran for governor of Nebraska? —Kurt Wullschleger, Beatrice

ACTION LINE: William V. Allen never ran for Nebraska governor. He was, however, a U.S. Senator from Nebraska. At a time when congressional representation was decided by the legislature (two houses then — senate and house of representatives), Allen, a judge from Madison County, served as a coalition candidate in 1893. To defeat the Republicans, the Democrats joined forces behind Populist candidate Allen on Feb. 7, 1893. On the 18th ballot, Allen received 70 votes to 59 for Algernon S. Paddock. He served until defeated by M. L. Hayward of Nebraska City on March 8, 1899. However, Hayward died Dec. 5, 1899 and Allen was appointed Senator by Nebraska Gov. William A. Poynter on Dec. 13, 1899. Allen served until the legislature could meet to properly fill the senatorial post which it did March 28, 1901. For further study, ACTION LINE would suggest "William Jennings Bryan and the Nebraska Senatorial Election of 1893" Nebraska History, XXXI, pages 183-203, by Paolo E. Eoletta.

We had pictures taken by Olan Mills Studio at the Lincoln Hotel March 12 and have not received the proofs. We tried to contact them when they moved to Congress Inn, but no results. —Mrs. Janette S. Sayre, Lincoln

Exactly where does Lincoln intend to build a new asphalt plant? C.L., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: On a site yet to be determined by the City. However, speculation has the $285,000 plant to be located on 3-5 acres in northeast Lincoln, possibly near the proposed Northeast Radial.

How old is Mothers Day? —L.F., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Perhaps Mothers Day will not mind telling her age — 55 years. Miss Anna Jarvis arranged the first Mothers Day observance as a simple affair May 10, 1908 in Andrews Methodist Church in Grafton, W.Va. The idea caught on and in 1914, President Woodrow Wilson signed a Congressional Resolution establishing the second Sunday in May as a day to honor Mother.

We live where the street makes a circle and our children play there. There is no reason for anyone to drive 40 m.p.h. around the circle since it leads nowhere. Is there someplace we can get a sign that reads "Children Playing" and put it on the side of the street? —J.P., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Before you take any action on this matter, contact the City Traffic Engineer Office at 475-5611. The traffic engineer is responsible for signing of streets.

Why, with all the accidents with farm tractors, isn't it mandatory that they be equipped with roll bars and seat belts? —Jean G. Byerly, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: According to Rollin Schnieder, farm safety specialist for the University of Nebraska and National Farm Safety Institute president, a bill now in Congress (HR680) would require all new tractors sold to be equipped with roll bars and safety belts. If you wish to give support to this bill, write the person who introduced it: Rep. Samuel Stratton of New York or your representative: Robert V. Denney, First District of Nebraska. Schnieder has recently completed a study on the matter and his conclusions indicate overwhelmingly that such safety features do save lives in tractor accidents.

Taxation Said Basic Obstacle To Reorganization Of Schools

By United Press International

The Nebraska Farm Bureau said taxation is the "basic obstacle to school district reorganization" in Nebraska.

"Equalize the tax burden for school purposes between urban and rural districts and valid opposition to reorganization will largely disappear," the bureau said.

The statement came in the weekly newsletter put out by the bureau entitled "The Midland View" written by director of information M. M. Van Kirk.

"The basic obstacle to school district reorganization is taxation." Van Kirk wrote, "yet it is noteworthy that the two extremes on this argument rarely if ever really mention this fact. Nor have they been leaders in trying to correct the inequities in taxation.

"The Nebraska State Education Association and associated groups have been interested in getting more money," the newsletter said. "The Nebraska School Improvement Association has associated itself more with anti-income tax and anti-spending groups than with those who were removing inequities in taxation.

"There is no future in opposing reorganization of schools per se," Van Kirk wrote. "At the same time there is no valid reason for arbitrary compulsory reorganization without regard to circumstances."

He said the main issue "is the critical high valuation of real property and low income situation involved in farm and ranch ownership."

Informational Meet Set On Crime Control Funds

Local governmental officials have been invited to an informational meeting on June 6 in Lincoln regarding applications for federal action grant funds for crime control, it was announced Wednesday.

Walt D. Weaver, executive director of the Governor's Crime Commission, said local governmental subdivisions are eligible for portions of $145,000 available during the remainder of this fiscal year and an estimated $1.5 million expected to become available next January.

Weaver said the purpose of the meeting, starting at 1:30 p.m. in the governor's hearing room, is to provide technical information regarding the preparation and submission of applications.

Federal and state representatives will assist in the presentation and be available for questions.

Samples distributed

Some 100 "sample" application forms have been distributed through the 22 planning regions for information of local city and county officials.

Weaver said no deadlines will be set until local officials have ample time to prepare applications and make budget preparations.

"The federal grants must be matched 60-40 by local funds," he said.

Top Priority

Last month, the commission set "communication development" as top priority for federal action money with "law enforcement training" as second priority. All other categories were lumped into a third priority.

Weaver said the priorities were set on the basis of reports from 19 regional planning organizations, which must proceed to develop regional comprehensive plans for law enforcement improvement.

While planning money was allocated earlier on a regional basis, Weaver said action money applications must be submitted by local governmental subdivisions, like a city or a county or in combination.

Review Later

Applications will be reviewed later on the basis of priority and needs by the commission's Grant Review Committee.

Approximately $375,000 of the $1.5 million anticipated in January can be allocated to state programs.

Weaver said suggested projects include a state law enforcement training center, communications, criminal code revision, state crime laboratory, schools for probation and parole officers, prosecuting and defense attorneys, and communication relation programs.

Workshop Set On Troubled School Child

A special workshop on the emotionally troubled school child will be held Saturday at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

About 45 teachers and personnel from Nebraska mental health and educational agencies will attend the workshop, which will include morning sectional meetings for various age groups and an afternoon symposium.

Dr. Roger Kroth, associate professor of education and assistant director of the Children's Rehabilitation Unit at the University of Kansas Medical Center, will discuss "Educational Intervention Programs for the Emotionally Disturbed Child" at a special luncheon.

The workshop is sponsored by the University of Nebraska Teacher Training Program for the Emotionally Disturbed.

Teen Automobile Road-E-O Exam Set For May 15

The Teen-age Automobile Road-E-O, sponsored by the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce, will hold a written examination for contestants at 7 p.m. May 15 in the Gateway Auditorium.

The driving skill test will be conducted May 18 in the south part of Gateway parking lot, starting at 1 p.m.

The contest is open to any teen-ager who will not reach his 19th birthday before August 1.

The local winners — one boy and one girl — will go on to state competition.

Tourism Conferees Told Travel Industry Ignored

Tourism and travel should be "treated like an industry" in a state, Nebraskans were told here Wednesday.

"Everyone is out looking for new industries, but people are ignoring the ones that are constantly opening for business," declared Dale McCollum, director of the travel division in Kansas' Department of Economic Development.

McCollum urged some 70 state officials and private tourism developers attending the conference on "Discover Nebraskaland's Travel Industry" here to recognize travel facilities as important industries in cities and towns.

Significant

When a manufacturing company with 25 employes begins operating, the governor and other officials welcome the firm to the state and city and hail it as a significant economic development, McCollum noted.

But when a new motel employing more than 100 persons locates in an area and opens for business, it is generally ignored, he complained.

Restaurants also ure a major industry, he noted, providing numerous jobs and purchasing many of their supplies locally.

Tremendous Value

"The dollar value of the tourist industry is tremendous," McCollum emphasized. Everytime a car goes through without stopping, a town loses $25, he claimed.

According to him, if 24 people a day stop in a town during their travels, it is the same as bringing in a $100,000 industry to the town.

McCollum called for each individual to become a salesman for the state and convince businessmen that travel "does contribute to the economy and community by providing jobs and money essential to economic development."

McCollum pointed out that it is necessary for areas of the United States to work together in promoting tourism. Kansas and Nebraska should work together, he declared, indicating that "friendly competition," between the two states' tourist attractions could be very beneficial.

Housing Authority Proposal Awaits Congressional Okay

A regional official of the General Services Administration (GSA) said Wednesday the Lincoln Housing Authority will acquire the old Lincoln Air Base housing area about June 5 if no objection to the sale is raised in the Government Operations Committee of Congress.

Sam Parker, regional official of the Kansas City, Mo. office, said during a telephone interview that the joint congressional committee must give approval before the sale can be finalized.

Parker said the Washington headquarters of GSA has formally approved the Housing Authority's $5.5 million offer and has forwarded the matter to the committee. He said committee members will have 35 days period in which to raise objections.

"The 35-day period started last Thursday, with the property to be sold to the Housing Authority following expiration of the period if the committee does not object to the sale," the regional official said.

Parker said he doubts there will be any objections, since GSA has approved the offer and the New Jersey Teachers Pension Fund, the mortgage holder, also okayed the sale.

The regional official said the Housing Authority will have to make a $1 million down payment after notification that the sale has been cleared by the committee.

The down payment will give the Housing Authority clear title to 200 units that the authority requested in its offer for the property.

The terms call for paying off the balance of the $5.5 million on a 20-year basis with annual installments to be paid at 5¾% interest.

Hospitals Having 'Birth Slowdown'

Lincoln hospitals appear to be having a birth slowdown. Only one birth was reported Wednesday by the four Lincoln hospitals — and it was from late the previous day.

In Wednesday's paper, seven births were reported, which is about average.

Nobel Prizewinner 'Waited' 34 Years

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Thirty-four years after Dr. Robert S. Mulliken developed his theories about molecular orbitals, his work was recognized as worthy of the Nobel Prize for chemistry.

"Nobel prizes are awarded only when a person's work is recognized as being important," the white-haired, soft-spoken chemist said here Wednesday.

Mulliken, the 1966 Nobel Prizewinner, noted that in 1930-32 "I was doing work that I thought was very interesting." But it has "taken many years for others to get interested," he said with a smile.

'Manhattan Project'

The 72-year-old University of Chicago professor, known as an expert on chemical warfare, was a member of the secret wartime "Manhattan Project" team which developed the atomic bomb. He worked on theories for the development of the plutonium process phase of the atomic bomb production.

Mulliken noted that he "first became popular" for his work with molecular spectra which led to his work in the 1930s with molecular orbitals.

He applied the quantum mechanical approach to the problem of chemical bonding and played the major role in the development of the molecular orbital theory which deals with the arrangement of electrons surrounding nuclei of atoms.

"If we understand how molecules are built, we can calculate their magnetic behavior and develop ideas about how molecules behave toward each other," the theoretical scientist explained.

Opened Vast Field

Mulliken's description of molecular orbitals — a theory to which many other scientists also contributed, he was quick to point out — opened a vast field of theoretical and practical research and development.

Significant applications of the work have included theories about medicinal properties of various compounds, discoveries in interstellar space and development of products used for space ships and high altitude airplanes.

Between lectures at the University of Nebraska and videotaping a lecture for the Nebraska Educational Television Council for Higher Education, Mulliken is editing a book here on "Molecular Complexes," co-authored with a Florida professor, which will be published later this year.

Sen. Carpenter Reports He Paid No Income Tax

By United Press International

State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff Wednesday became the first legislator to comply with the new conflict of interest law by filing a copy of his state and federal income tax returns with the legislative clerk's office.

The returns showed Carpenter paid no federal income tax last year and had a $12 state income tax liability.

Under the conflict of interest law passed earlier this session, lawmakers are required to file either a statement of the financial interests they have or else a copy of their income tax returns.

The Scottsbluff lawmaker was the legislator who proposed the provision allowing the filing of the copy of income tax returns.

Carpenter had told the Legislature earlier he would file a copy of his income tax returns "to show this body how poor I am."

The federal return covered a fiscal year beginning Dec. 1, 1967 and ending last Nov. 30. It showed Carpenter had a total income of $5,648 during the year and that after deductions, $933 of it was taxable.

A total of $131 was due in federal taxes on the $933 but this was offset by an investment credit of $131 so Carpenter paid no income tax to the federal government.

Since Carpenter's return covered only 11 months of 1968, it was pro rated for the state return and he had a total liability of $12 for the state. Since he had $1 deducted from his state legislative paychecks and had a total of $32 in food tax credits for five dependents over 11 months, he received a refund of $21 from the state, just as he had said when he promised to file his return.

Carpenter listed his occupation as "executive" on the return and listed his employer as "State of Nebraska." He drew $2,400 during the year in legislative pay.

Carpenter explained, "The reason I have no income tax is because my mother left me approximately $200,000 in money or the equivalent when she died. That's what we live on."

His mother died two years ago at the age of 92.

The return covered Carpenter, his wife Hazeldeane, his son Michael and Michael's wife and child.

In a letter mailed with the return, Carpenter said "neither I nor my family own any securities in any corporation except that of Terry Carpenter, Inc., in which we own 100% of the common stock." The corporation is managed by his son.

Mobile Housing Institute Praises New Legislation

A bill signed Wednesday by Gov. Norbert Tiemann to regulate plumbing, heating and electrical systems in mobile homes and travel trailers has been praised as "especially important" by representatives of the Nebraska Mobile Housing Institute, Inc.

"Twenty-five per cent of all homes selling at $15,000 or under are mobile homes," according to Grey Jewett, executive director of the institute.

Jewett said the bill will "guarantee health and safety standards equal to those in stationary homes" making it "beneficial to a large segment of new home owners."

Ken Ferguson, president of the institute, said the bill means that mobile homes in Nebraska will have equipment "equal to the best obtainable in the United States."

Lincoln Braille Club Schedules Annual Drive

Money collected by the Lincoln Braille Club, Inc., this week during the annual "white cane drive" will be used to continue the nonprofit organization's activities, which include a memorial scholarship fund and a speaker's bureau.

The bureau shares information on Aids for the Visually Impaired and acquaints the public with the work of the Lincoln Braille Club.

The white cane drive in May and a fall benefit show together with other contributions enable the club to continue.

The drive begins Thursday in downtown Lincoln and Saturday in Lincoln Gateway.

Speculators Pour Money Into Germany

London (AP) — Holders of dollars and other major Western currencies sold them off for West German marks in hectic trading in Europe Wednesday. They were betting an upward revaluation of the mark was in the offing.

A record $106 million flooded into West Germany in an hour of trading, banking circles in Frankfurt reported. Seriously under pressure were the British pound and the French franc.

The steadily increasing run for marks began after Charles de Gaulle resigned as president of France April 28. Since then $1.5 billion worth of foreign currencies has flowed into West Germany in exchange for marks, dealers estimate.

Buyers of the marks were speculators, investors and businessmen hoping to profit from any rise in the value of the mark.

Swaps Rates Eliminated

The Bundesbank, West Germany's central bank, eliminated its swaps rates so that dollars, pounds, francs and other currencies could be recycled back more easily to their countries of origin. Swaps are arrangements which, under the general agreement to borrow, permit central banks of the 10 richest Western nations to swap currencies back and forth to meet short-term balance of payments and monetary difficulties.

But still the mark closed higher against every Western currency.

Both the British pound and the French franc were at their floor levels in relation to the dollar and the mark. That is the point at which the Bank of England and the Bank of France are obliged by international monetary rules to fork out precious gold and dollars to support the value of their money.

Nervous And Hectic

Conditions in most money markets were described as highly nervous and hectic. Most dealers said they were now certain of an early revaluation of the mark and many believed it might be accompanied by a devaluation of the pound and perhaps the franc.

The pound was under heavy selling pressure in New York, Zurich, Paris and Frankfurt. London dealers said the outflow was steady but not up to the crisis levels of last November.

Only 3 Points Above

The pound opened in London at $2.38415, up 4 points on Tuesday's close, but soon slid off to $2.3823 only 3 points above the mandatory intervention level.

The London Stock Exchange took a nosedive in the general uncertainty and the Financial Times index of 30 industrial stocks slumped 6.7 points to 447.9. British government bonds were badly hit and some losses reached $1.50.

In Frankfurt the dollar ranged during the day between 3.9675 and 3.9695 marks, well below the mandatory intervention level of 3.9725 marks at which the Bundesbank is obliged to support the dollar by buying it. The bank later dropped the intervention level to 3.97.

The West German bank was said to have intervened massively to buy up the millions of dollars being offered.

Gold In Demand

Gold also was in demand in the speculative rush for the first time in some days. The price was fixed up 22½ cents from Tuesday at $43.60 an ounce in London.

In Paris, the mark was 1.25260 francs. The intervention ceiling is 1.25290.

Posthumous Awards To Spec. 4 Reich

Former Lincolnites, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer V. Dietz of Studio City, Calif., have accepted several posthumous awards for their son, Spec. 4 William G. Reich.

SPEC. 4 W. REICH

Killed In Vietnam

Spec. 4 Reich, 24, was killed in action in Vietnam in November. He was a former Lincoln High School student.

Awards presented to his parents included the bronze star cited for previous service in Vietnam, the Purple Heart, the good conduct medal and seven other medals.

Lincoln survivors include grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Drummond and uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Wahl.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

"Any boy in this room can grow up to be president." That was Miss Thatcher — Old Thatch we called her — when the Board of Education was sawing off learning on me.

What she did not say was that any boy in the room did not have to grow up and be president. That is rough duty, friend. Keep off the ballots.

Here's a blue sky day in the Sonoma Valley, State of California. We have golden hot cakes on the corner of the square. Where the Bear Flag was raised to hail the California republic.

Before they had finished writing the Constitution, the American frontiersmen were criticizing the new president. Forget who. Jacob Leese, I think.

Over coffee this morning we find a critique has been written of President Nixon's first hundred days in office. This is like running the mile and they call the results on you after the first lap. Stay off the ticket, pal.

☆ ☆ ☆

Too early for my critique of the President. I remember my Presidents by animals. Herbert Hoover caught a trout.

President Roosevelt (Teddy) hunted bears.

President Roosevelt (FDR) had a dog named Fala. President Johnson lifted beagles by the ears.

I suppose President Nixon has a dog in the White House by now. But for the life of me, I cannot think who. Shows the dog has a mighty poor press agent. No image.

However, I still recall Nixon's dog Checkers who appeared on TV with him at a critical and uncomfortable time. Man's best friend etc.

☆ ☆ ☆

No cat lovers have entered the White House. There's something for the Cat Owners of America to take up.

We have four part Manx kittens. I would be glad to forward one to the presidential scatter at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue. I would get the kitten some good press before it arrived. I was once the animal reporter and interviewed talking dogs.

I would interview the kitten. "What do you intend to do when you get to the White House, cat?"

The kitten would then make campaign promises. "I intend to lower taxes." (The kitten would add — for the Texas vote — that he did not mean to knock off the 27½% allowed tax free to oil people.)

A famous cat lover was Mohammed. His cat, Muezza, went to sleep on his sleeve. Rather than wake her up — "pardon me cat" — Mohammed cut off his sleeve.

That is the kind of good press the President and my kitten would get. The President could use an old suit. Something he was going to give to the help anyway.

☆ ☆ ☆

Now, there are people who cannot stand cats. Napoleon loathed them. Alexander the Great and King Louis XVI couldn't bear them around.

Look at it politically though, all these people came out losers in the long run. Mohammed is still tops.

NWU Receives $26,000 Grant

Nebraska Wesleyan University has received a $26,000 federal grant to support improvement in programs of study for medical technologists and physical therapists.

Dr. W. L. Staudinger, head of the department of biology, will serve as program director of the grant, made under the Allied Health Professions Basic Improvement program of the Bureau of Health Professions Education and Manpower Training with the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The grant runs for two years and will include funds to purchase instrumentation to provide students the proper background in medical technology and physical therapy, Dr. Staudinger said.

CANADIAN WHISKY — A BLEND · 80 PROOF · IMPORTED BY NATIONAL DISTILLERS PRODUCTS CO., NEW YORK

Elegant tradition:
The smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada!

Tonight serve Windsor Canadian: the remarkable, sippin'-smooth Canadian that's already changing thousands of Americans' ideas on the whisky to serve.

Now compare Windsor! Pour two drinks —highballs or over ice—one with your usual, one with Windsor Canadian. Notice the superior smoothness and the flavor of Windsor.

That's because no other custom-distilled whisky shares these three extraordinary features:

1. Only Windsor Canadian is made from choicest northern prairie grains, bursting with fresh flavor.

2. Only Windsor Canadian is born of icy mountain glacial water drawn pure and clear from underground streams.

3. Only Windsor Canadian is aged in the incredibly dry air of Canada's Rockies. Where, nearly a mile high, it gentles to sippin'-smooth perfection.

Yet it costs no more than leading domestic whiskies, because we import Windsor Canadian, then bottle it here. Thus saving on duties and other charges. Compare the price and the smoothness of Windsor. Once you do, you'll never settle for less or pay more. That's tradition for you!

Shepard, First Into Space, Reinstated To Flight Status

Space Center, Houston, Tex. (AP) — America's first man in space, Alan B. Shepard Jr., has been returned to flight status six years after he was grounded by an inner ear disorder, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Wednesday.

Shepard, 45, became the first American spacemano on May 5, 1961, when he was rocketed into space aboard the "Freedom 7" Mercury capsule

Flight surgeons removed him from flight status in 1963, barring him from solo aircraft flight because of intermittent attacks of dizziness and nausea.

Shepard's reinstatement as a pilot came a year after minor surgery on his ear.

"Shepard's health has remained excellent during the past year, and consultant ear specialists consider his former problem no longer presents a threat of recurring suddenly," Dr. Charles A. Berry, director of medical research and operations at NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center, said Wednesday.

Dr. Berry added: "He is, therefore, medically qualified to return to full piloting duty."

Shepard was one of the original seven Mercury astronauts named by NASA in April 1959. He was the first American to climb into a space ship and be launched into outer space, but the flight lasted only about 15 minutes and did not achieve orbit.

He was grounded and he has been barred from flying even small aircraft since.

Hailstorm Kills 8

New Delhi (UPI) — Eight persons were killed and 40 injured in a hailstorm which lashed parts of the Hazaribagh district of Bihar State, the Press Trust of India reported. The agency quoted state legislator Mahesh Ram as saying some hailstones weighed as much as seven ounces.

Airliner's Pilot Urges Leniency For Hijackers, 18

Miami (AP) — Two teen-age sweethearts who tried to hijack an airliner were given federal sentences Wednesday after the pilot pleaded for lenience for them.

U.S. Dist. Judge C. Clyde Atkins gave indeterminate sentences in a federal correctional institution to Michael Anthony Peparo of Cold Spring, N.Y., and Tasmine Rebecca Fitzgerald of Poughkeepsi, N.Y. Both are 18. They could be released in three months.

They tried to hijack a National Airlines jet and take it to Havana on Sept. 4.

Capt. Barry Davis, who was in command of the jetliner, told the court that both society and the teen-agers would be best served if they had supervision rather than confinement.

Four Snow Aid Grants Okayed

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann Wednesday approved another four applications for state financial assistance for snow removal costs.

The approvals raised to $435,512 the total of grants from the $1 million aid fund provided by LB758, enacted earlier at the current legislative session.

The newly-approved grants include $224.33 to the village of Exter in Fillmore County: a supplemental grant of $243 to Cedar County, and supplemental grants of $14,140.35 and $311.40 to Knox County.

The deadline for grants is May 15.

The money is intended to aid cities and counties which ran up unduly high expenses for snow removal during the hard winter.

KITTEN HAS NEW MOTHER

When she was about 10 days old, this kitten's mother was shot. She found a new mother — Tinka, an Afghan hound. Tinka had had a false pregnancy. She had plenty of milk but no puppies when Douglas Corbin, 7, of Tolleson, Ariz., brought the orphan cat home. Tinka has nursed the kitten to health in four weeks and treats it as her own. She won't let other farm animals near it.

Action On Mills' Tax Reform Doubtful

© New York Times Service

Washington — Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, disclosed Wednesday some of his ideas for fundamental reform of the tax system. It appeared improbable, however, that any of them would actually get formal consideration by Congress this year.

Among Mills's major ideas are these:

—End personal deductions, except for contributions to charity, unless they exceed 10% of a taxpayer's income. The ban would include the standard deduction. In exchange for the loss of this deduction, he would lower tax rates significantly.

—Change the system of taxation of capital gains, so that the rate gets lower the longer the property is held before being sold. The rate for property held only a year or so would probably be higher than it is now, under Mills's idea.

—Eliminate the present escape from taxation of capital gains on property held until death by providing that the heirs of property that has appreciated in value pay taxes, whenever they sell it, on all the appreciation since it was bought by the person from whom they inherited it.

Just how seriously Mills intended to pursue any of these ideas was not clear.

He said he did not know how they would be received by members of his own committee and it was learned later from other members that none had yet been brought up for discussion there.

Nor was it clear whether Mills would doggedly stick by these ideas if the Nixon administration opposed them, as appeared quite possible in the case of his plan to change the whole basis of personal deductions.

Other members of the committee have been saying ever since the Nixon administration put forth in its first package of tax reform proposals on April 22 that Mills was determined to seize the initiative on the reform issue from the administration.

Nixon Says Administration Reaches 'End Of Beginning'

© New York Times Service

Washington — President Nixon told a Republican fund-raising dinner here Wednesday night his administration had reached "the end of the beginning" and that "the American people will soon begin to see the results of our programs."

Nixon said he did not expect to make many more political speeches during the next few months because he expected to apply "complete dedication and devotion to solving these problems" of war, crime and inflation.

"Above everything else," the President declared, "we want to give you a record you can be proud of."

Nixon said his administration had refused the easy opportunity to make false claims of achievement during its first 100 days.

"We're going to lay it on the line with the American people," he said. "We're never going to promise something we can't produce."

Some 2,600 persons, who paid $1,000 each, filled the ballroom to hear Nixon make one of his relatively infrequent political speeches and to hear other party leaders summon the faithful to success in 1970.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

Three Lincoln Cagers Among NCA All-Star Choices

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

The stage is set for the first annual Nebraska Coaches Association all-star basketball game this summer with the announcement of the 12-player squads which will represent the North and South in the Aug. 22 battle.

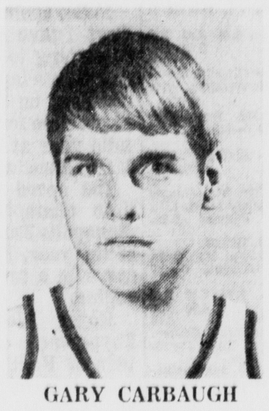
The South will have the taller team, but the Yankees will be coached by two men who have had outstanding success with shorter clubs. Lincoln Northeast mentor Ed Johnson will be the North head coach. His Rockets won the 1968 Class A title despite facing a height disadvantage in the championship game against Omaha Central.

This spring Creighton Prep coach Tom Brosnihan, who will assist Johnson, won the Class A crown, with the taller Eagles again the finals opposition.

The South coach will be Merle Bauer, the coach at Holdrege who moves to North Platte as athletic director next fall. He will be aided by Boys Town's George Pfeifer.

Each team has 12 seniors from 11 different high schools. The two teams which clashed for the state Class A title are the only ones with two representatives. Johnson will have both Mark Langer and Bob Matthews, the playing-making guards from Creighton Prep on the North team, while Bauer has drafted the services of high scoring Lee Harris and slick ball-handling Lindberg White of Omaha Central.

DAN COOK



GARY CARBAUGH

GARY WALKER

The South height will come from Juris Stauers of Omaha Westside at 6-7, Cal Christline, who led Sterling to the Class D title at 6-6, Mike Roj of Hastings, Dale Haase of Hebron and Dave Drevo of Crete all at 6-5

Three Capital City players are slated for action. Gary Walker, Pius X's all-stater, has been chosen on the South squad, while Northeast's Dan Cook and Gary Carbaugh of Lincoln High will both perform for the North.

Rounding out coach Bauer's South team will be Kevin Murray of Beatrice, Daryl Petersen of Millard, Vic Steele of Boys Town and Papillion's Dave Van Kruen.

Each team has seven players from Class A and three from Class B. While the South has Christline from Class D and Haase from Class C, the North is without a player from the smallest school division, but has both Dave Hahn of Elkhorn St. John and Wausa's Dave Holmquist from Class C.

Johnson's choices for the North team from Class B are Vernon Banks of Gothenburg, Steve Becker, the tallest on the Yankee squad at 6-7 from Hartington Cedar Catholic, and Laurel's Brent Fahnestock.

Completing the North squad are Larry Chapman of Norfolk, Jerry Sorenson of Omaha North and South Sioux City's Tom Zimmerman.

Training camps for the two squads open Aug. 14 with the South working out at Kearney State College, with the North squad at Wayne State College

The game will conclude a three-day coaching clinic in Lincoln's air-conditioned Pershing Auditorium, Friday night, Aug. 22, with the Shrine Bowl football game also slated the next afternoon in the Capital City.

'BIG A' RACES RESUMED

Warriors Can't Keep Iowa Girl

New York (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors picked a girl in the National Basketball Association player draft Wednesday, but couldn't keep her.

She is Denise Long, a high school player from Union, Iowa. But Walter Kennedy, NBC president, said, "Not allowed."

"We were serious," said Frank Mieuli, owner and president of the Warriors. "We chose her in the 13th round.

"We weren't trying to belittle the draft or the calibre of players available in the late rounds. We didn't intend to use her in NBA games. We wanted to use her in a league we have for preliminary games.

"She is supposed to be very good."

While ladies are invading all sports, including roles as jockeys, this would not be a basketball first.

Penny Ann Early, a girl jockey, was signed by Houston of the rival American Basketball Association. She got into an ABA game briefly last season.

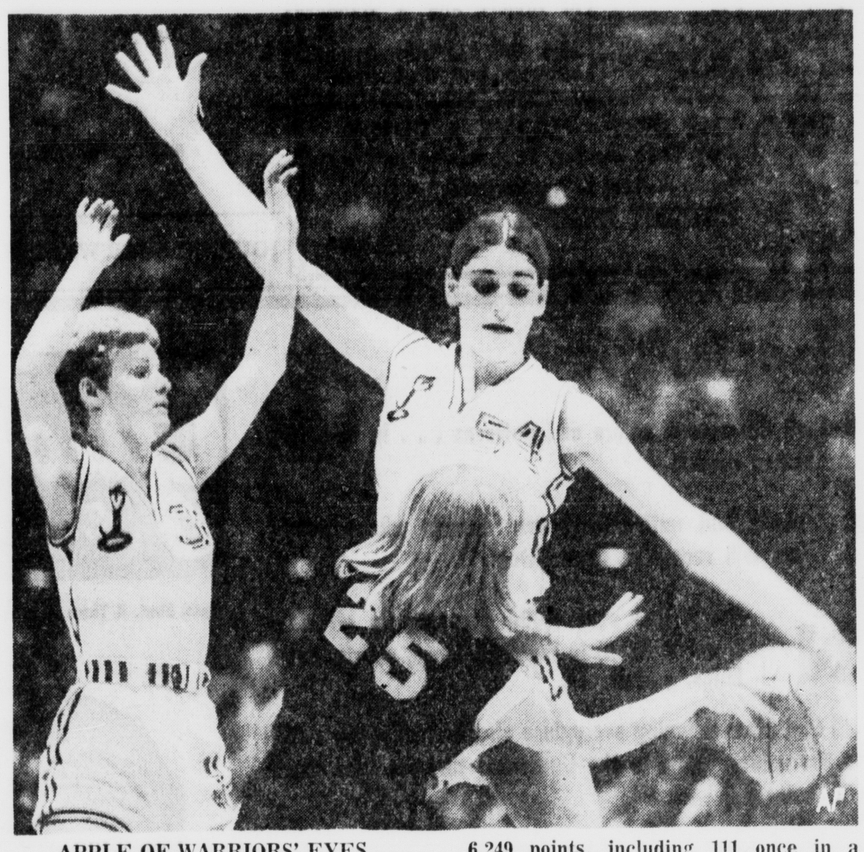
At Union, Iowa, Denise, a senior at Union-Whitten High School, said she was disappointed at being rejected.

"I still think it's kinda cute," she added.

"I think I could have played with them. I always practice by boys rules. But they're bigger than I am. And stronger, I guess."

"I was shocked and surprised when they told me about it."

Would she have actually played with San Francisco? "I don't know," she said. "It depends on how much they paid me. Mr. Paul Eckerman, my coach, told me to negotiate."



APPLE OF WARRIORS' EYES . . . Denise Long (54) shows the form that led to her selection in the NBA Draft. The 5-11 pride of Iowa's Union-Whitten High School scored a career total of 6,249 points, including 111 once in a single game. Photo shows her in action during the Iowa Girls State Basketball Tournament last March.

NBA Drafts Two More KU Stars; Cowboy Tabbed

New York — Two more Kansas University cagers were selected Wednesday in the National Basketball Association's draft of college stars.

The Chicago Bulls tabbed the Jayhawks' Dave Nash in the fourth round and Philadelphia picked Bruce Sloan in the 11th round.

Another Kansas star, Jo Jo White, was selected in the first round by the Boston Celtics April 8.

Joe Smith of Oklahoma State went to Los Angeles in the eighth round and Raul Duarte of South Dakota State, a former all-Big Eight choice while playing for Iowa State, was picked by San Diego in the 12th round.

Kennedy Netters Stop Peru By 6-1

John F. Kennedy College of Wahoo defeated Peru, 6-1, Tuesday in a tennis meet at Woods Park in Lincoln.

SINGLES

Don Wiechec, P, def. Ed Rezabek, 6-2, 6-1; Greg Noll, JFK, def. Ken Burch, 6-2, 6-4; Mich Miles, JFK, def. Harold Prior, 6-4, 6-1; Jim Kerwin, JFK, def. Jud Mintle, 6-0, 6-2; Mike Stolarcyk, JFK, def. Maron Salinko, 6-1, 6-3.

DOUBLES

Rezabek-Noll, JFK, def. Wiechec-Burch, 6-4, 4-6, 10-8; Kerwin-George Berry, JFK, deef. Prior-Mintle, 6-3, 6-2.

Meyers Gets Ace

David Meyers of Lincoln scored a hole-in-one at the Knolls Country Club, using an eight-iron to ace the 92-yard sixth hole.

Twins Turn On Indians To Take 10-3 Triumph

. . . KILLEBREW LEADS ATTACK

By Associated Press

Minnesota, which had its eight-game winning streak snapped by Cleveland the night before, turned on the Indians Wednesday night for a 10-3 victory in major league baseball.

Harmon Killebrew hit two home runs to lead the 11-hit Minnesota attack. Jim Kaat scattered eight Cleveland hits and helped win his own game with a two-run double.

Houston snapped Philadelphia's five-game winning streak 6-1 on Jim Wynn's three-run homer in the fifth and the five-hit twirling of Larry Dierker, who struck out 14.

In other games, Cincinnati blanked the New York Mets 3-0, the Chicago White Sox downed Baltimore 6-4, Atlanta defeated Montreal 5-3, Pittsburgh shut out San Diego 2-0, Detroit beat Kansas City 6-2, and San Francisco whipped St. Louis 5-3.

Willie Davis' second homer of the game, with one one, gave Los Angeles a 12-inning 5-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the only afternoon game.

Tony Perez's homer, combined with the three-hit pitching of Jim Merritt and Clay Carroll, gave the Reds their victory over the Mets.

Bill Melton's two-run triple in the fifth and Carlos May's homer in the seventh paced the White Sox over the Orioles.

A single by Felipe Alou drove home what proved to be the winning run in the sixth as the Braves came from behind to down Montreal. Gene Mauch, the Expos' manager, was banished in the fifth when he kicked the ball 40 feet into the air as a protest against a balk call that let Alou score the tying run.

Bob Veale struck out 13 San Diego batters, but the Pirates needed relief help in the ninth from Chuch Hartenstein before downing the Padres.

Detroit ended its four-game losing streak by whipping the Royals on home runs by Jimmi Price and Mickey Stanley.

The Giants overcame the Cards after Gaylord Perry threw out Julian Javier at the plate in the sixth inning and kept St. Louis from tying the score. The victory broke the Giant's five-game losing streak.

Jay Johnstone drove in three runs with a double and single as the California Angels beat the New York Yankees 4-2 and saddled winless Stan Bahnsen with his sixth consecutive setback.

Ted Kubiak raced home with the winning run on Del Unser's throwing error as the Oakland Athletics rallied for two runs in the eighth inning and nipped Washington 5-4.

Concordia Splits

Wayne (UPI) — Concordia State Teachers College Wednesday traded baseball victories with Wayne State College. Concordia won the first, 7-2, and Wayne State grasped the nightcap, 5-4.

Concordia had an eventful fourth inning in the opener with home runs by Bud Romsa who whacked a single, and Bob Resig who cracked a two-run homer.

NU Hopes For Surge As Iowa State Invades

Hopeful of a late-season splurge to escape the Big Eight cellar, the Nebraska baseball team takes on Iowa State in a three-game series this week.

Coach Tony Sharpe's club, making like the hard-luck team of the year, has lost seven one-run decisions to date as they have posted a 7-12 season record. In the Big Eight race, the Huskers are a cool 2-9.

Adding to Sharpe's woes this week is the fact that frosh pitcher Paul Marek has been lost for the season because of an ailing arm.

A twin-bill is set for 1:30 p.m., Friday, with a single game to start at 11 a.m., on Saturday as part of the All Sports Day program.

Sharpe will start his ace lefthander Al Furby on Saturday.

"Al led the Big Eight in earned run average as a sophomore and he's making a strong bid for the title again this year," Sharpe said. "It's fitting that he get a chance to wind up his home Cornhusker career on All Sports Day."

Gene Stohs and Glen Gilmore will get the pitching calls on Friday.

Policemen Keep Lid On Trouble

New York (AP) — Racing returned to Aqueduct Wednesday against a backdrop of possible violence that brought helmeted police into the track stable area and resulted in the arrests of 34 persons.

The shortened program was the first racing since April 26 when horsemen boycotted the entry box in a still unresolved dispute over a proposed pension plan for backstretch employes.

But for a time Wednesday, it appeared that the discontent that has grown from the dispute would keep the horses off the track.

Shortly before the scheduled post time of 12:30 p.m., CDT, for the first race, about 100 grooms blocked off a gate and kept the horses from leaving the backstretch en route to the paddock.

About 125 city police then were called in to join track security police who were stationed in the stable area.

The grooms were orderly but angry and refused to listen to pleas of officials of the New York Racing Association to clear the way.

One carried a sign which read "No Race Today."

Another shouted, "We're not going to leave here. If you arrest one, you arrest all of us."

Finally at about 2 p.m., when the group blocking the gate had dwindled to about 40, and with the city police looking on, the track guards moved in and escorted each groom to an improvised compound. None resisted and no injuries were reported.

Those arrested were taken in police vans to the nearby Ozone Park Precinct where they were to be arraigned on charges of criminal trespass.

The first race, which actually was the second on the program, went off at 2:30 p.m., after many of the paid attendance of 15,036 had left.

The rest of the scheduled nine-race card was held, including the $25,000-added Comely for 3-year-old fillies although four of the nine entered in the stakes were scratched.

The delay also caused some scratches in other races.

While the racing was going on, the NYRA was busy getting entries for Thursday's card.

"There will be racing Thursday," said racing secretary Thomas Trotter, "even if we have to have four horse fields in each race."

Before the delay of Wednesday's start, there had been 74 horses entered but many trainers still refused to race, including Howard "Buddy" Jacobson, president of the New York division of the Horsemen's Protective and Benevolent Association.

The HPBA membership, acting as individuals, began the boycott after the New York State Legislature failed to act on a bill that would permit four extra days of racing to pay for a pension fund for backstretch employes. These employes include grooms, hot walkers, exercise boys, foremen and watchmen.

The nine racing dates that were canceled cost the state an estimated $4 million in taxes.

Sigler, Gratopp To Get Awards At Spring Game

Nebraska quarterback Ernie Sigler and basketball forward Bob Gratopp will be honored at halftime of the All Sports Day football game Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

Sigler will be presented the Tom Novak Trophy, given annually by J. Gordon Roberts of Omaha.

Gratopp will receive the Walter Dobbins Award, presented each year to the most valuable member of the basketball team by Lincoln Elks Lodge No. 80 in memory of the late sports editor of the Lincoln Journal. Dobbins winners are selected by a vote of Big Eight coaches.

Deadline For Ticket Renewal Is Saturday

Renewal deadline for Nebraska season football ticket reorders is 4 p.m. Saturday.

NU ticket director Jim Pittenger said most tickets have been renewed, but that many need to be reminded of the deadline or lose their season tickets to a long waiting list.

No. 1 Squads Set To Duel

. . . INTRASQUAD GAME

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

The No. 1 offensive unit will line up against the No. 1 defensive unit when Nebraska footballers wind up spring drills with the annual intrasquad game at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

"We debated about going with units or splitting the squad up individually," head coach Bob Devaney explained, "And we wound up actually making the decision to go with units by a flip of the coin."

The Husker boss added, however, that substitutions would be made individually as well as by units.

Quarterback duties for the White team will be shared by senior Frank Patrick, who also will see some duty as a safety, and sophomore Van Brownson.

"We hope Brownson will be okay Saturday," Devaney said, referring to a shoulder injury that has kept him out of action for the past week. "We're not going to bang him around any more before Saturday and we think he'll be ready."

The Husker boss added, however, that substitutions would be made individually as well as by units.

The No. 1 backfield with Patrick calling signals has Mike Green at fullback, Frank Vactor at back and Larry Frost at flanker.

The center duties on the No. 1 unit will be shared by Joe Buda and Glenn Patterson, who is making the shift from guard after being moved from tackle to guard at the start of spring drills.

The rest of the offensive line has Jim McFarland and Guy Ingles at ends, Wally Winter and Paul Topliff at tackles, Carl Ashman and Gale Williams at guards.

The Red team, whose hopes will rest primarily on the defensive Black Shirts, will be quaterbacked by sophomores Jerry Tagge and Chuck Osberg, a southpaw.

"Jerry has made the most progress of any of our quarterbacks this spring," Devaney said.

Another quarterback, who has been impressive this spring, Tony Dvorsak, won't see action because of a knee injury.

"We would like to have been able to see some more of Tony because in grading films of the last scrimmage, he looked good," the Husker coach offered. "Another player we really wanted to take a look at was Doug Dumler (a tight end), but his knee injury is worse than we had thought.

Two other players who will not see action are safety Randy Reeves and sophomore tight end Bill Holmes.

In a late position switch, Bob Grenfell, a junior from Philadelphia, will be the starting left guard for the Reds, having been moved from tackle.

"He had been coming along well at tackle," Devaney explained, "But we needed help at guard, so we moved him."

Coaches Mike Corgan, Cletus Fischer and Tom Osborne will be in charge of the white team while Bill Thornton, Carl Selmer, Monte Kiffin and Warren Powers will head the strategy board for the Reds.

Devaney will watch the action from the press box.

The Huskers were chased indoors by the rain Wednesday for the first time this spring.

Former Stampeders Coach Rumored To Get Eagle Post

. . . CALGARY WON'T FIGHT WILLIAMS

Calgary (AP) — Jerry Williams turned aside the Calgary Stampeders' efforts to keep him as head coach with a legal opinion Wednesday and left the Western Football Conference club to discuss an offer to become head coach of Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

In Philadelphia, The Associated Press learned that Williams will become the Eagles' new coach. An official announcement is expected to be made within the next week.

Williams, 45, who had been denied permission by the Stampeders to talk with Philadelphia, told a press conference that he is exercising rights he believes he has in his four-year contract with Calgary and is terminating the pact.

Club President Gordon Burton said the Stampeders would not contest Williams' opinion.

Contending that a legal battle would take several months to resolve, Burton said, "We have to get to the business at hand . . . and field a football team.

"Under the circumstances, the club has no choice but to attempt to fill this vacant position."

Williams, who also is a lawyer, said in prepared statement he profoundly regrets that the situation created conflicting obligations.

"Mine are conflicting within themselves and both consistent and contrary to those of the board of directors. That has created a dilemma which has been most agonizing to all parties concerned."

"If there are any bitter feelings at this present hour, I hope they will soon pass away," Williams said.

The man who led the Stampeders to the Grey Cup game in 1968 for the first time in 19 years said he terminated his contract with many misgivings.

"My relationships with general manager Rogers Lehew, the board of directors and the entire Stampeder organization have been the best that I have experienced in my 14 years of coaching."

Williams, Calgary's 12th head coach since 1936, joined the Stampeders' in 1964 after playing with the Los Angeles Rams and Philadelphia in the NFL and serving five years as defensive coach of the Eagles. He was appointed Calgary's head coach in 1965.

Royal Tilt Juiced

All American Association games scheduled Wednesday, including the Omaha Royal-Oklahoma City game, were rained out. The other games were Indianapolis at Iowa and Tulsa at Denver.

Wesleyan Rained Out

The scheduled doubleheader between Nebraska Wesleyan and Pershing College at Sherman Field was rained out Wednesday.

Texas Open Is Plagued By Lack Of Top Names

. . . FOUL WEATHER, SNAKES ALSO HURT

San Antonio, Tex. (AP) — The forecast for continued foul weather, the absence of most of the top names in the game and the presence of some unwanted visitors — snakes — plagued the start of the $100,000 Texas Open Golf Tournament Wednesday.

Only a handful of golf big guns, including Frank Beard, Miller Barber and Dan Sikes, were on hand for Wednesday's pro-am over the rolling, 7,138-yard, par 71 Pecan Valley course.

The event was played under the threat of a tornado and lowering skies, which have dumped week-long rains on the area.

Flamboyant Lee Trevino, the grinning guy who owns the U.S. Open title, had to miss practice rounds and the pro-am because of other commitments, but was scheduled to be on hand when the field of 144 begins the 72-hole test today.

Tourney officials were dismayed by a flock of absentees top names whom Ray Creek, president of the sponsoring San Antonio Golf Association, said had made oral commitments and failed to put in an appearance.

Among them are Julius Boros, who won the 1968 PGA title on this course; Billy Casper, who is bothered by allergies; Bruce Devlin, winner of the Byron Nelson Classic two weeks ago; Gene Littler, the season's leading money winner, and Masters Champion George Archer, still nursing a burned hand.

Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player had not entered the tournament and are not here. Player is vacationing at home in South Africa while Palmer and Nicklaus — each having trouble with his game — are taking a rest.

That left the soft-spoken Beard; Barber, who formerly played out of this club; the long-hitting Sikes; Trevino, No. 2 in the money-winning list, and lefty Bob Charles of New Zealand as the top candidates with Beard figured the most likely to succeed.

Although he hasn't won this year, Beard is at the top of his game. He lost in a playoff to young Larry Hinson in last week's Greater New Orleans Open and finished in a tie for second the week before in the Byron Nelson Classic.

For the two weeks he pulled down more than $20,000. The first prize here is $20,000. Beard doesn't like the favorite's role.

"I don't think you can say anyone is favored," Beard said. "There are just too many good golfers out there."

There also are a lot of snakes out there. Dozens of the reptiles, rattlers and water mocassins, have come out with the week-long rains that are forecast to continue.

Many have been killed, some still lying on the course. There is no assurance all are gone, however.

"If I hit a ball off the fairway, there is no way I am going to look for it," one pro said, after viewing a carcas.

Athletics Buy Jose Tartabul

Oakland (AP) — The Oakland Athletics purchased outfielder Jose Tartabul from the Boston Red Sox Wednesday and assigned him to their Triple A farm club in Des Moines, Iowa.

Tartabul, 30, played with the Athletics for five years when the club was in Kansas City before being sent to the Red Sox in 1966.

He was on Boston's pennant-winning team in 1967, hitting .233. Last year, he hit .281 for Boston in a utility role.

Seattle Inks Draftee

Seattle (AP) — Seattle announced Wednesday it has signed Leroy Winfield of North Texas State, its third round choice in the National Basketball Association draft. Terms were not disclosed.

Small Fry Win

Lincoln's national champion Small Fry basketball team defeated the Little Fry League coaches, 32-30 in an exhibition game Wednesday.

Foyt Zips 169 MPH In Indy Run

Indianapolis, Ind. (AP) — A. J. Foyt gave other drivers something to aim at Wednesday with a lap of 169.237 miles per hour on the seventh day of practice for this year's 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The speed by Foyt, three-time champion of the Indianapolis 500, was the fastest of the year. Foyt is driving a car with a turbocharged Ford engine.

Roger McCluskey, in a Foyt-owned car that is the twin of Foyt's, recorded the second fastest speed of the year later in the day, 166.790

Joe Leonard, Wally Dallenbach and rookie Mike Mosley all went over the 136 m.p.h. mark. Twenty cars made practice runs.

Sixty of the 84 entered cars were at the track by closing time Wednesday. The latest arrivals included the Bardahl Special, with a turbocharged Offenhauser engine, that defending champion Bobby Unser is to drive.

Midstates Track Meet To Be Featuring 880

Gothenburg — A special invitational 880-yard dash will be highlighted in the Midstates Federation Track and Field championships May 30.

Invitations will be extended to high school runners who have posted outstanding marks this season. Meet chairman Dean Dorsey of Cozad is accepting nominations through May 18.

KSU 440 Star Terry Holbrook Out Of Action

Manhattan, Kan. (AP) — The Kansas State track squad has lost quarter miler Terry Holbrook, a senior from Belle Plaine, after a motorcycle accident Tuesday in Manhattan.

Holbrook received a shoulder injury and is expected to have the shoulder in a sling for three to four weeks.

The injury came in an accident while Holbrook and another cyclist were riding along a city street.

Holbrook won the 440-yard dash in the 1968 Big Eight outdoor meet. He also won the quarter mile event at the conference indoor meet in February. He was a key man in Kansas State's grand slam in the sprint medley relay last year and helped the Wildcats to victories on the indoor circuit as well as the Texas and Kansas relays outdoors this spring.

Sprinters In Spotlight At Ak-Sar-Ben

Omaha — Prospects are for an off track as sprinters take the spotlight in Ak-Sar-Ben's twilight racing program today.

Mr. Swinger, Admiral B. and Bold Accent head the nine-horse field going in a Nebraska-bred allowance race at six furlongs. It receives top billing with an open allowance test over the same distance which draws Missile Pit, Champagne Kid and Wrangler Roman as the top-weighted entries.

New Revolt Against Indonesia Admitted

London Times Dispatch

Singapore — The Indonesian government has been forced to admit that a new revolt had occurred among Papuan tribesmen in the wild mountains of West Irian and that, following rebel blocking of five airstrips around the town of Enarotali, 500 paratroopers had last Sunday been dropped to restore government authority

Dr. Sudjarwo Tjondronegoro, a senior foreign ministry official, was reported confirming that an aircraft carrying the West Irian army commander, Brig. Sarwo Edhie, had been hit by ground fire over Enarotali, and he suggested that the shots had been fired by policemen who had joined the revolt.

The new troubles are undoubtedly embarrassing to the government on the eve of the "act of free choice" under which the people of this huge hall of New Guinea are this summer to be sounded out on their wish to remain part of Indonesia. Although the troubles evidently started two weeks ago, there had been no hint of anything untoward from senior government officials in Jakarta.

It seems that it was a detailed report from an Australian Broadcasting Commission correspondent, just back from West Irian, that prompted the hurried official admissions. The report was denied only in one detail — Sudjarwo said rocket strafing had not occurred prior to the paratroop drop.

What has followed the drop has not been disclosed.

"A contemporary music film . . . Captures the pop musical willingness to hurl yourself into things without all the action stopping self-consciousness of an earlier generation."
—Renata Adler, New York Times
"Yeah, the camera made love to the Monterey Pop Festival . . . a beautiful, well-done, OK-fantastic-film, doing what a film should and rarely does do, by taking a real-life event and creating a living form, another reality . . . I've just seen a film that's worth seeing. 72 minutes of what music can do and what a filmmaker with some heart can do."
—Lita Eliscu, East Village Other
"What is your mind-blowing level? A guitar being raped at a pop festival? Something more substantial, like Ravi Shankar tearing loose with a dazzling display of musicianship? So much is packed into this documentary of the Monterey Pop Festival of June, 1967. Plus more, more, more."

Prices Decline In Stock Mart

New York (AP) — "It looks as if the consolidation phase we've been expecting has arrived," an analyst said of the stock market's drift downward Wednesday to its first loss of the week.

After the market's sharp recent advance, he noted, "it was to be expected that it would have to pause to digest its gains"

The Dow Jones industrial average — which gained a total of 33.17 in last week's bullish charge and 4.89 more in its two previous sessions this week — closed off 2.46 at 959.60 and below the 1969 high of 962.06 posted Tuesday.

Of 1,598 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 779 declined, and 587 advanced. There were 81 new highs for the year and 39 new lows.

The day's turnover came to 14.03 million shares, compared with 14.70 million shares Tuesday.

Blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the Big Board totaled 73, compared with 74 Tuesday.

Among other market indicators:

The New York exchange index of some 1,200 common stocks fell 0.12 to 58.54.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .2 at 339.7, with industrials off 1.6, rails up .6, and utilities up .1.

Great Western Financial led the active list on the Big Board as the 20 most-active issues divided evenly, with 10 higher and 10 lower.

Great Western, in which two blocks totaling 301,000 shares were traded, closed off 1¼ at 28.

Prices generally were lower on the American Stock Exchange.

The Amex index lost 3 cents to $31.16. Volume totaled 8.91 million shares, compared with 8.21 million Tuesday.

Cattle Sell Strong, Up At Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Moderate pressure against plainer and lighter cattle continued on the Omaha market Wednesday, but the strong to higher trend marched forward.

Good midweek demand for well-finished cattle set the trade on a fairly active pace with the steer division setting another 10-year high. Fed steers shaped up steady to 25 cents higher, the advance limited to choice and better quality with some weight. Heifers were fully steady. Cows were fully steady in brisk bargaining, bulls strong to 50 cents higher.

Limited offerings feeder cattle sold strong to 25 cents higher.

Steer top moved up to 33.50 for a load of mostly prime Iowa beeves scaling 1,232 lbs. This figure was a new seasonal peak and best here in 10 years. A half-dozen loads choice to prime 1,091-1,300 lbs. brought 33.00 and another six loads comparably finished 1,099-1,250 lbs. ranged 32.65-32.85. Bulk choice beeves 31.25-32.50, several loads top-choice 997-1,066 lb. yearling weights included at 32.10-32.25. In between quality good and choice 30.25-31.25, good down to 27.50.

Heifers topped at 32.00 for five loads high-choice to prime 966-1,043 lb. offerings. Other well-finished fed heifers 31.65-31.75, bulk choice 30.00-31.50, mixed good and choice upward from 29.25.

Bulk top beef cows held at 22.50, few to 23.00. Boners 20.75 and down, mixed cutter and utility offerings as high as 21.50. Few lean commercial bulls sold upward to 26.50.

Choice 850-1,025 lb. feeder steers went out at 31.00-32.00.

Hogs turned strong to 25 cents higher, the advance on butchers on weights below 240 lbs. Heavier weights were fully steady.

Bulk 200-240 lb. butchers 21.50-22.00, weights to 280 lbs. down to 20.25. Sows bunched at 18.75-19.50.

A small outlay of fat lambs sold steady, ewes unchanged. Best new crop lambs 31.50.

OMAHA

Hogs: 8,000; barrows and gilts fairly active; strong to 25 higher; 1-3 200-240 lbs. 21.50-22.00; 2-4 240-280 lb. 20.25-21.75; 3-4 280-330 lb. 19.75-20.75; sows fully 25 higher; 350-600 lb. 18.75-19.50.

Solution Said Cash In Pockets Of Poor

© New York Times Service

Washington — Two Cabinet members told Congress Wednesday the administration believes the long-range solution to hunger and poverty is to put cash into the pockets of the poor.

They said welfare reform proposals, emphasizing "cash assistance," will be sent to Congress within a few months.

Broad outlines of the administration's welfare proposals were disclosed by Robert H Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, and Clifford M. Hardin, secretary of agriculture, before the Senate Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs.

Three Basics

The administration program is expected to contain three basic aspects:

—Expansion of the food stamp program, as announced Tuesday by President Nixon after intense congressional pressure.

—Minimum national standards for welfare payments, probably at a level of $30 a month per person.

—An improved work incentive program, including federal cash assistance to those already employed but receiving too little money to adequately support their families.

At present, a great majority of the poor do not get welfare payments.

While strongly endorsing the administration proposals for expansion of the food stamp program, Finch told the nutrition committee he feels that stamps should eventually be phased out and replaced by cash.

Cash and Dignity

Cash income, he said, "best preserves the dignity and freedom of choice of the individual to meet his own needs through the workings of the private market."

In his message to Congress, Nixon proposed an increase of $1 billion for food assistance programs, with an initial outlay of $270 million within the coming fiscal year.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., chairman of the committee, said that while the proposal is "significant," it fails to provide enough money to end hunger in America.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., said Congress "keeps authorizing dreams and appropriating peanuts."

But while criticized as inadequate, it was apparent that the Nixon administration had avoided a head-on collision with the nutrition committee by proposing an expanded program to fight hunger.

Some Transplants Lead To Psychiatric Trouble

© New York Times Service

Miami Beach — Heart transplants are giving not only hope for life, but — in some cases — severe psychiatric difficulties, according to a Stanford University specialist.

Reporting on his past 18 months as psychiatric consultant to the cardiac transplant team headed by Dr. Norman E. Shumway at the Stanford Medical Center, Dr. Donald T. Lunde said Wednesday that in five of 13 transplants at Stanford last year there was post-operative psychosis.

Six of the 13 patients who received new hearts at Stanford are alive. Four have returned home and are living fairly active lives. Two are still patients at Stanford Medical Center.

One Was Deluded

After his operation, one patient grew increasingly belligerent, fell prey to delusions, accused nurses and others of trying to kill him, and whenever he failed to receive his medicine within two minutes of the scheduled time considered it part of a plot.

He was convinced that a drug he was receiving was poisoning his body and would kill him on the 18th day after surgery (he had worked out a system based on multiples of nine).

The patient saw dozens of masked, gowned people coming into his room and decided the masks hid contemptuous mocking expressions. He developed insomnia, and doctors hesitated to put him under sedation for fear they would not be able to tell whether subsequent unresponsiveness showed his heart was failing or the sedative was working. In the end he was given major tranquilizers.

Psychotic Episode

Another patient, Lunde told the American Psychiatric Association meeting here, "had a brief psychotic episode consisting of hyperactivity, obsessive compulsive behavior, emotional lability (instability), delusional thinking and bizarre behavior."

A third, he said became paranoid.

All were being administered a drug to prevent tissue rejection. Lunde suggested that the drug might have played a role in the psychoses and in other psychiatric complications.

There were also less dramatic post-operative changes, such as changes in self-image. Patients who had been invalids found themselves active, and, Lunde noted, "this changes their perception of themselves . . .

Some patients felt they were receiving not only the hearts of the donor — but also something of the personality.

Nazarene Church Elects Mrs. Titus

Mrs. Orlee Titus was elected Sunday School superintendent of Northside Church of the Nazarene at its annual business meeting Wednesday night.

Other officers elected were Dale Hudson, Mrs. Alma Buckow and Mrs. Louise Campbell, trustees, and Mrs. Cora Galbraith, Mrs. Sharon Kroese and Mrs. Luella Cohagen, stewards.

Music Fraternity Elects Meisinger

Ken Meisinger of Plattsmouth has been elected president of Upsilon chapter of Phi Mu Sinfonia fraternity, a professional music fraternity at the University of Nebraska.

Other officers elected were: Tom Simpson, North Platte, vice president; Keith Heckman, Lincoln, secretary; John Weddel, North Platte, treasurer; Tom Ferneau, Auburn, alumni secretary: Edward Love, Omaha, pledge trainer; Jerry Katskee, Omaha, publicity-historian, and Bob Jones, York, choral director.

Liver Donor Must Be Found Within 6 Months For Kathy

Omaha (AP) — Doctors say only six months remain in which to find a donor for a liver transplant operation needed to keep a seven-month old Omaha girl alive.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Dropinski are keeping their patient vigil, saying their daughter Kathy has top priority at the University of Colorado Medical Center in Denver.

"Kathy has priority because she has gotten worse," the mother said.

The donor must be less than three years of age with matching tissue and blood type.

Colorado medical center has performed numerous transplants; few recipients have survived.

'50-50 Chance'

"We feel the operating procedures are being improved all the time," Mrs Dropinski said. "I think it's a 50-50 chance and that is better than no chance at all."

Kathy was born with a malformed liver, Mrs. Dropinski said.

"Exploratory surgery performed when Kathy was six weeks old confirmed that the bile goes into the bloodstream or stays and damages the liver," she said.

Bids Are Opened For Demolishing Old 14th St. Bridge

Bids opened at City Hall Wednesday for demolishing the old 14th St. bridge over Oak Creek ranged from $9,750 to $23,250.

Bud Irons Excavation Co. of Lincoln was the apparent low bidder at $9,750.

The bridge was partially washed out due to heavy rains in 1967 and a new bridge was constructed to replace it.

Also bidding on the demolition were Mocha & Sons Construction Co. of Honey Creek, Iowa, $15,500; Frieden Construction Co. of Lincoln, $19,400, and Dobson Bros. Construction Co. of Lincoln $23,250.

Soviets Locate Gas In Arctic

Moscow (AP) — An exploratory well recently struck oil on the Yamal peninsula of the Soviet far north, leading to conclusions that huge petroleum and gas deposits lie beneath the Arctic Ocean, Tass said Wednesday.

An article by Tass commentator Valentin Vasilyev said geologists have established that oil-and gas-bearing sands underlie the entire peninsula and stretches out beneath the bed of the Kara Sea.
